

Court orders forged, $130,000 stolen

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Forged court orders have enabled an estimated $130,000 in public funds to be withdrawn by a Collinsville attorney for his personal use, sources said this week. No charges have been filed.

Apparently learning of the names of truck drivers arrested at the Interstate 70 weighing station near Collinsville, the lawyer utilized a photo-copying method to create official-looking Third Judicial Circuit "documents" dismissing arrest charges and refunding forfeited cash bonds.

In order after order on file at the Madison County Courthouse, clerical personnel were informed that specific overweight truck allegations had been "dismissed with prejudice; bond ordered refunded to defendant and forwarded to his attorney."

Investigators have exonerated a number of officials whose photo-copied signatures appear on the bogus orders. It is said that a judge who came across an "order" he had never seen or signed, but which contained his signature, became alarmed and alerted authorities that fraud was being committed.

Those cleared include circuit judges, associate judges and assistant state's attorneys. Trucking companies and transport truck drivers also have been cleared, it was learned.

Refund checks, many totaling as much as $1,200, were made out to be cashed by the individual defendants and then were handed or mailed to "their attorney."

The scheme involved not only forgery of court orders but also the signing of truck drivers' names to refund checks—without them being aware that their cases had been "dismissed."

Those looking into the forgeries include staff members of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation.

When the study has progressed further, material reviewed by State's Attorney Don W. Weber will be presented to a Madison County grand jury for possible indictments.

The suspected lawyer is said to be politically active. He holds no elective office but does serve in an appointive counseling position as well as conducting a private law practice.

His name appears on so many court records that presumably the only defense he might be able to attempt is that his signatures, too, were photo-copied.

However, witnesses' statements are being obtained regarding who appeared at the Courthouse to transact matters involving fake court orders.

Weber said this week that grand jury action is possible in July. He cautioned against excessive advance publicity about the prosecution.

The amount of a fine, said to sometimes total $5,000 to $7,000 but usually in the range of $1,000 to $1,200, depends directly on the extent to which vehicles exceed legal weight limits.

The limits are in effect to help protect paved roads from being damaged by heavy vehicles.

It is common practice for trucking firms to authorize bonds in lieu of fines—and for the bonds to be accepted by state agents.

The alternative would be detention of vehicles, some of which have perishable freight, and the delay of

Judges' signatures photo-copied, used to dismiss cases and free funds from road arrests

Pros, cons of air plan debated

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

The Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., as a requirement towards becoming first in the state to use a new air pollution trade-off policy, heard residents testify against the plan while Mayor Paul Schuler appeared in support of the alternative control strategy yesterday.

Only a scattering of residents and city officials, however, attended yesterday's two-hour hearing, designed to offer a public platform for comments on the permit application involving the state regulation of thousands of tons per year of fugitive emissions.

The steel company is requesting a release from a previous state order to regulate air pollution emissions from its blast furnace cast house on Edwardsville Road. In return, the company states it will improve its control of road dust from a previous compliance order of 50 percent to 75 percent control through paving and other dust-control measures.

According to Dr. John Manda, Granite City Steel Division vice president in charge of environmental control, the cost of either compliance program would be roughly the same. He would not comment on the cost for either program.

Manda said the significant difference would be a seven-fold reduction in air pollution from particular plant operations. If the compliance trade-off is allowed.

Some dissenters felt the steel company should accomplish both the clearing of dust from the parking lots and roads and the control of emissions from cast house.

The Chicago chapter of the Citizens for a Better Environment, a non-profit citizens' group, disagreed in a written report submitted prior to the hearing and read to the audience by the IEPA hearing officer.

According to its report, "The operating program submitted by Granite City Steel does not represent any stretch of the imagination. A significant reduction in fugitive particulate matter."

"In fact, we find it incredible that the agency (IEPA) has accepted an operating program which only requires a 50 percent emission reduction from open dust sources in an area that has traditionally recorded the highest total

GC studies curbing of sick leave

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

Responding to what Mayor Paul Schuler and some aldermen consider a gross abuse of the city's current sick leave policy, the city council considered four more stringent alternatives Tuesday.

"The name of the game is abuse," the mayor said of the current policy.

The four alternative proposals were presented in a special 45-minute caucus conducted by Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the negotiating committee. Fisk said he considers sick leave policy among the non-negotiable items during the current round of contract talks.

In the caucus audience were union leaders representing the police and firefighters unions, which both have reached an impasse in their wage talks with the city.

Attorney, two others unhurt in plane crash

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Loss of power in both engines which caused the crash of Attorney Morris Chapman's private airplane near Greenville, Ill., Monday night hasn't discouraged his love for flying, but it "hasn't increased it any," according to Chapman.

Chapman and Madison County Deputy Assessor Earl Tucker, 347 Grand Ave., and Ronald Roderick of Arlington Heights, operator of Roderick's Restaurant here, went up just for "a ride" about 7:30 p.m. Monday, leaving Lakeside Airport in Nameoki Township.

They landed at Greenville Airfield when incident, but when they took off again to return to Granite City about 8:30 p.m., trouble started. Tucker was flying the plane, owned by Chapman, and Roderick was a passenger. Chapman was passengers, authorities said.

According to Chapman, "We were climbing out (from the takeoff) when the first motor went out. We threw it into the auxiliary (fuel) tank in an attempt to restart it, but it wouldn't restart," he noted.

Still no need for panic, Chapman indicated, saying he has had to fly that plane on one engine several times. "It had three or four motor failures before. That plane will fly on one motor. We flew about a mile and a half trying to make a gradual turn back to the field, but about at the end of the circle, the second motor cut out. We again tried to restart it, auxiliary tanks and all, but it wouldn't restart," Chapman recalled.

Realizing that they would be unable to make it to the airport, the intrepid flyers spotted a road nearby and nearly made it.

"We tried to put it in the roadway, but we were a few hundred feet yet to the roadway and not parallel. We tried to turn and land at the same time. I guess we would have stayed on it, but one wing kind of lurched over on the landing and threw it in a diagonal fashion and we went out into the cornfield," Chapman noted.

Actually, Tucker turned the plane at such a sharp angle attempting to reach the roadway that one wing dug into the shoulder of the road, veering the plane off the pavement. "I think we would have made it OK otherwise. We were in a landing position," Chapman recalls.

Once in the cornfield, things got a bit bumpy, he explains. Roderick struck his head on something, but that was the only injury.

Emergency vehicles converged on the area. Bond County Sheriff's Deputy Tony Brooks was the first to arrive at the crash scene and commented, "They were all out walking around when I arrived."

The sheriff was called and the Greenville Fire Department dispatched two pumps, its rescue truck and its emergency truck. The Greenville police also arrived to assist and an ambulance was sent.

Roderick was taken to Ulm Memorial Hospital for a bump to his head, but was quickly released after being checked. That was the only injury caused by the crash.

The cause of the crash? "I have no idea," Chapman stated. "The FAA says it will hear the motors down if they can't determine why. I had motor problems earlier with that plane (a green and white Cessna twin engine Skymaster). We had to put two motors in previously from motor failures. I lost two motors before, but not simultaneously."

"Apparently, there was something inherently wrong that was never determined, even though the plane had been torn completely down before," Chapman noted.

So much for the theory that any landing you walk away from is a good landing.

Crimeblockers help solve 10 burglaries

"Crimeblockers" are given much of the credit by police for two Granite City arrests this week that have solved ten home burglaries occurring in April, May and June.

Residential burglary charges were filed against Calvin D. Walker, 18, of 1935 Delmar Ave. and Anton J. Walch Jr., 18, of 1728 Cleveland Blvd.

The two were arraigned Tuesday afternoon and remain in custody, with bonds set at $50,000.

Police Chief Ronald Velzer says the department now has about 750 residents registered in the Crimeblocker program.

Persons interested in joining the police-assistance program may register at the police building, in preparation for a new one-hour orientation session to be conducted in the near future.

Lions honor Patricks

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Edgar and Sylvia Patrick of Pontoon Beach were honored at the village's citizens of the year by the Pontoon Beach Lion's Club during the club's seventh annual community awards dinner Monday night.

They are the seventh couple to be honored as the village's citizens of the year, the highest award any organization in the village bestows annually.

Previous winners were Otto and Corine Kreher in 1976, John and Irene Karlechuk in 1977, Andy and JoAnn Bukovac in 1978, the late Chester and Thelma Dean in 1979, Harry and Laura Briggs in 1980 and Chester and Leora Anderson in 1981.

The Patricks move to Pontoon Beach 35 years ago from Mattoon, Ill. They have raised three sons, Robert, Richard and Donald Patrick.

Edgar and Sylvia Patrick operated the former Lake Club at Lake Drive and Pontoon Road and they were charter members of the former Amvets Post 107 and Auxiliary, which met at the tavern.

They also were leaders in the creation of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department in the late 1940s and early 1950s and supported creation of the Pontoon Beach Public Water District in the late 1950s.

Edgar Patrick has been a member of the water district's board of directors the last 24 years and currently serves as board president.

The Patricks also were community leaders when the village was incorporated in the early 1960s.

In 1968, Patrick was elected Nameoki Township Tax Collector and held that post for four years.

He was business agent for the Hotel, Restaurant and Bartenders Union Local 102 for seven years. He retired last April as a supervisor of field investigations for the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Patrick served in the U.S. Air Force

Election 'wonderful' reports Nameoki fire district leader

GEORGE ANN
McGEE

of the Press-Record
"It went wonderfully," said Charles Reed, chairman of the Cloverleaf-East Madison citizens' committee, which backed Saturday's successful election to form a fire district for 300 residents in that area.

"This should have been done years ago," according to the chairman, who now hopes members of a soon-to-be-formed fire protection trustees' board will be able to persuade the Madison Volunteer Fire Department to resume calls in the new district.

Nameoki Township residents in the Cloverleaf-East Madison area voted overwhelmingly (102 to 8) to accept the plan for the district, which includes a property tax not to exceed 12.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The levy is expected to bring in about $3,000 to $3,500 a year.

Rather than using the funds to form their own fire department, the levy is expected to be used as a guarantee to the Madison fire department that fire calls will be paid to them, if that city decides to resume service to the neighboring Cloverleaf-East Madison area.

The Madison City Council cut off that unincorporated section of Nameoki Township from fire protection Jan. 31 after individual fire call bills to some homes in that area were not paid.

"I can't blame Madison for dropping us," said Reed, who thinks a fire protection district for his area should have been formed years ago.

As a fire district, the area might be eligible for grant money to purchase equipment that could be traded to Madison in exchange for fire protection.

"Instead of being a burden, we'll be a little bit of an asset," said Reed.

After Saturday's votes have been officially canvassed by the county, three trustees will be appointed. Reed said his committee has already informally approached three residents for those positions.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said that after the votes have been certified, the town board will make the trustee appointments based on the recommendations of the citizens' committee.

The trustees will be charged with budgeting the levy money coming in next June. Reed said residents in the district were anxious to hold the election before September, in order to submit a tax levy request in time for the 1983 collections.

Cloverleaf-East Madison residents are anxious to be back under the protection of Madison Volunteer Fire Department even before the taxes arrive in June.

"Everybody wants it right away," said Reed.

The district is being temporarily protected by the State Park Fire Department, after the state fire marshal assigned residents to that district as an emergency measure.

Reed said the Madison Volunteer Fire Department can respond within minutes to a fire call in his area, while State Park fire trucks took almost half an hour to respond to the latest fire in Cloverleaf-East Madison.

SIUE to display moon rocks

An aerospace education workshop, with a display of moon rocks picked up by Apollo 11 astronauts, is scheduled June 28-July 9 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The display is part of the teacher training workshop in science education, directed by Bob Williams, associate professor of elementary education. It is held in cooperation with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

John Harfield, education specialist at NASA, will lead the June 29-30 sessions. He will bring samples of highland soil, pebble-size pieces of moon rock and other surface samples encased in a lucite disk.

In other sessions, students will learn aerodynamics by flying gliders and kites, try weather experiments, launch their own rockets and weather balloons, take a flight in a small, fixed-wing plane, and pack an egg for a soft, crack-free landing.

The class will also inspect a helicopter and visit an aircraft manufacturer and international airport before ending with a flying trip to the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C.

For additional information or to complete registration, interested persons may contact Williams at (618) 482-2082. Registration is under Elementary Education 516 for four hours graduate credit.

State police to monitor highways

Persons travelling Interstate 64 and 270 in the coming week who have the vice of exceeding the speed limit should take heed.

Beginning this afternoon, Thursday, June 24, Illinois State Police, District 11 of Maryville, will be patrolling two area interstates by airplane, monitoring traffic for speeders.

Today, the state police will monitor the traffic on Interstate 64 near Illinois Route 157 from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

On Friday, June 25, and next Wednesday, June 30, the state police will watch the same portion of roadway from 8:30 a.m. until 1:15 p.m.

On Thursday, July 1, state police will move their high-way observations to the area of highway near the Interstate 270 and Illinois Route 111 interchange. That area will be monitored by officials from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Air speed checks may be cancelled or delayed due to weather conditions. Persons may verify observation dates by calling the Illinois State Police office at 345-1212.

How to save money on your grocery bills Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnucks' grocer.

Check License plates; expiration nears

Secretary of State Jim Edgar announced that midnight Wednesday, June 30, is the deadline for car owners with license plate registrations expiring in June to display the orange 1983 stickers in the upper left corner of their rear license plate.

"Approximately 594,000 renewal registrations will be mailed to registered owners who are currently displaying the brown 1982 stickers that expire in June," Edgar said.

Applications made by mail should be in the Secretary's office no later than Tuesday, June 15, to ensure delivery by the June 30 deadline.

License plate stickers may be purchased over the counter at Secretary of State's facilities in Springfield and Chicago, or at 1,200 banks, savings and loans, currency exchanges and credit unions participating in the license renewal program.

Effective Thursday, July 1, anyone driving a car with an expired brown, June 1982, sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

Shrine sponsors marriage enrichment weekend course

Marriage and Family Program at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows will sponsor a marriage enrichment weekend, July 16-18.

they strive to build an ongoing relationship of love and trust.

Away from pressures of everyday living, couples can share understanding, insights, pain, and delights of married life. Sharing sessions are structured and involve input from a team with opportunity for group discussion. However, the degree of participation is left to each person's judgment.

The next Marriage Enrichment Weekend sponsored by Marriage and Family Program is September 23-25. More information may be obtained by calling the Shrine at 397-6700.

GC artist to exhibit Girls capture honors

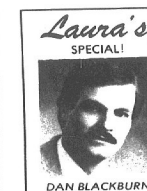

An oil painting by Granite City artist John Scarborough has been accepted for exhibition and competition at the Mitchell Museum in Mount Vernon, Ill.

The Mitchell Museum's Southern Illinois artist open competition jury committee has accepted the painting, "The Painter, Camera and Paint by Scarborough, for inclusion in the show, it was announced this week.

The annual Southern Illinois artist open competition will be held from July 17 through Aug. 29 at the museum. The public is invited to view the exhibit.

Scarborough's work will join an exhibit of 80 paintings and drawings, created by 61 professional artists from 34 counties in Southern Illinois. Scarborough, a Granite City High School graduate, is employed at Granite City Steel. As an amateur, his art work has been acclaimed in competition at the state level.

Carnival, fireworks among July 4 Celebration opening Wednesday

By DAVID NOLAN
GC Park District
Its time of year again and the Granite City Park District has put together another great July 4th celebration program. The celebration begins Wednesday evening, June 30, with carnival rides and concessions opening at 6 p.m. and running through 11 p.m. Also, the July 4th Softball Tournaments for Men and Women begin that day at all the lighted softball diamonds.

On Thursday, July 1, a special carnival matinee with special prices will take place from 1 until 5 p.m. Rides will be three for $1 and all concessions will be open. At 6 that evening, the carnival will re-open with the rides at regular price. The softball tournaments continue at all fields.

Friday, July 2, opens the weekend with a bang. A special performance features Howard Bollen and the Alleycats Band, who will specialize in polka music and a variety of other tunes. The band starts at 7:30 p.m. with the music ending at 9:30 p.m. The carnival and concessions will open at 6 that evening and run through 11 p.m. The softball tournaments continue at all lighted fields.

Another carnival matinee is scheduled on Saturday, July 3, from 1 until 5 p.m. with the same three for $1 price on tickets for all rides. The carnival re-opens at 6 p.m. at regular prices for the remainder of the evening.

The big event happens Saturday evening. Spotlights the day is another musical performance featuring Ron Mahon, the Country Lads and the Webster Sisters. This fine talented group will feature solo and group performances in the best tradition of "The Nashville Sound." The show, as well as the one the previous evening, will take place in the Wilson Park Ice Rink adjacent to the carnival area.

Sunday, the final day of the July 4th Celebration, will feature an all-day carnival from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. The finals of the Mens and Womens Softball Tournaments will be conducted, along with the second annual Summer Craft Show. This event will include 57 exhibitors from towns in the entire metropolitan area. There will be no cost to enter the ice rink where the crafts will be displayed for viewing or buying. This is an excellent opportunity to pick up new ideas or buy many useful and unusual hand-crafted items. The craft show will be from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

An added feature this year will be an American Cananda presented by a choral group from First Assembly of God Church. They will perform immediately before the fireworks display on softball diamond eight in Wilson Park.

As in the past, the Granite City Park District Board of Park Commissioners has lined up a fireworks display as spectacular as those of the past. The fireworks will begin promptly at 9 p.m. July 4 in the center of Wilson Park. The show has a finale that is hard to surpass.

The public is being invited to come to Wilson Park and enjoy the July 4th Celebration and take part in all of the activities.

Bernard Boston

Bernard N. Boston, 68, of 5017 Lakewood Drive, was stricken while attending the Great Lakes Association of Shrine Oriental Bands competition and was taken to Riverside hospital in Toledo, Ohio, where he died at 12:43 a.m. Tuesday, June 22, 1982.

A member and past president of the Oriental Band of Grand Temple, Mr. Boston accompanied the band to the contest two weeks ago when he became ill and was hospitalized for surgery. He had been in ill health for two years.

Born in Girard, Ill., he also resided in Wagoner, Ill., prior to moving to Granite City 41 years ago.

Mr. Boston retired in 1976 as an electrician from Granite City Steel after 27 years service. He was of the Protestant faith. He was a member of Masonic Lodge 877, Aired Temple, Low Twelve Club, Scintille Rite Bodies and Eagles Aerie 1128.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Viola (Molomon) Boston; two sons, Bryce D. Boston of Chatham, Ill., and Bryan D. Boston of Granite City, and seven grandchildren.

A daughter, Mrs. Alice Williams, preceded him in death in 1981. Visitation will begin at 4 p.m. today at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road, where Masonic services will begin at 8 tonight. The Rev. Charles V. Tolley will conduct funeral services at 1 p.m. Friday, June 25, at the funeral home, with burial to follow in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township. The family requests memorials be made to the Shrine's Crippled Children's Hospital in St. Louis.

William Brown

William Percy Brown, 77, of Raleigh, Ill., formerly of Granite City, died at 5:04 a.m. Monday, June 21, 1982, at Doctor's Hospital in Harrisburg, Ill. He had been in ill health for one month and hospitalized for three days.

A native of Cumberland City, Tenn., Mr. Brown resided in this area for many years before moving to Raleigh, Ill., 13 years ago.

Since living in Raleigh, Mr. Brown was employed as manager of the Harrisburg-Raleigh Airport. Additional GC Council action—at a glance

Additional recent Granite City aldermanic and executive discussions and actions include the following.

... Mayor Paul Schuler told council members Tuesday that he would not support any hike in sewer fees that exceed $4.50 per quarter, although City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic has based the current plant budget on a $9 per quarter increase.

Schuler suggested cuts could be made in funds intended to serve as a replacement reservoir for plant repairs. Fourth Ward, chairman of the sewage committee, said he could support the $4.50 hike if it accompanied a seven-man reduction at the plant. Decatur has called for a 6:30 p.m. July 6 caucus on the plant and budget, which mayor's ad hoc downtown parking meter committee and the continued operation of the parking meters until the members of a downtown rehabilitation group have an opportunity to bring in their own recommendations. Earlier, the mayor had appointed the aldermanic committee when both meters came under fire by some downtown merchants.

... Alderman Varadian asked for disbandment of the department employee who had resigned. Alderman Carl Kittel, Third Ward, objected to the reinstatement on the grounds of the city's current financial state.

Venice seeks felony charges

Felony informational documents are being sought from the Madison County state's attorney's office by the Venice Police Department against four men who were in custody today at the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

The four are Jerome Kirkland, 26, of 1104 Douglas St., Venice, Henry Pickett, 37, and Roland Rox McCellan, 38, both of East St. Louis, and Kevin A. Campbell, 25, of 161 Lee Wright Homes, Venice.

As a result of an incident occurring earlier this week in Venice, each of the four men already is charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a Firearm Owner's Identification Card.

They were arrested when a 1974 Cadillac, operated by McCellan, was halted on Illinois Route 3 at Bissell Street by Venice Officer Timothy Simmons, assisted by Corporal James Bennett of the Venice Police Department and Madison Officer Gary Marsala, just nine minutes after Venice police were informed of the incident, involving alleged use of weapons.

An officer in a pursuing squad car allegedly saw a man throw an object from the Cadillac as it was coming to a stop on Route 3 and a .38-caliber blue steel revolver, loaded with six live rounds, was recovered in some weeds about 10 feet from the auto.

A .45-caliber automatic weapon was found laying on the rear floorboard of the car and an automatic clip, loaded with seven rounds of .45-caliber ammunition, was discovered in the car trunk.

All four men were transferred to Madison County Jail at 7:40 a.m. Wednesday. Bonds of $30,000 each were set on Kirkland, Pickett and Campbell. McCellan is being held on a $15,000 bond.

$300 JACK STOLEN
A $300 transmission jack was stolen from the Paul Seebold Concrete Co. repair shop at the 22nd Street railroad crossing, last week.

No money, just wait in dispute

Brandon Heights homeowners received a rude shock yesterday's Madison County Special Sewers Service Area One meeting yesterday when they showed up to collect checks in compensation for sewer lines running through their yards.

Marshall "Zeke" Smith, assistant state's attorney, had to tell the roomful of impatient residents that title searches and the discovery of three additional lots must now be considered before checks can be distributed.

Residents were concerned by both the delay after three years of fighting easements and by the possibility the $70,000 set aside for the easement compensation might be shared with other homeowners.

Each homeowner is expected to receive about $4,000 to $10,000, based on the assessment of his property. In an unique action, Smith asked the board members to recess to give residents time to order to consider if they wanted to give district an additional month to settle the situation or if they wanted the lines removed.

After a 20-minute wait, a spokesman for the residents told the board to expedite the checks next Wednesday or remove the lines from their property. Smith had suggested earlier arrangements could not be accomplished in that short a span.

Morris Miles, board chairman, also had told residents he would be out of town next Wednesday. No board meeting has been regularly scheduled for that evening.

Four injured in Route 203 crash

Four men sustained injuries in a three-vehicle crash on Illinois Route 203 (McCambridge Avenue) at Harrison Street, south of Madison, at 12:35 p.m. Tuesday, according to Illinois State Police.

Reports state the accident occurred when a southbound vehicle, operated by Roy Harris, 22, of East St. Louis, suddenly veered to the left, pushing a northbound auto driven by George Morning, 65, of St. Louis, into a third auto, traveling alongside, which was operated by William R. Kasten, 28, of Granite City.

Taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and admitted with multiple injuries were Roy Harris, who is listed in stable condition, two passengers in his vehicle, Chester Harris, 26, listed as fair, and Vernon Billups, 22, both of East St. Louis, and Morning. Both Bruggs and Morning are reported in stable condition. State troopers at the scene cited Roy Harris for improper lane usage.

Capture two

Dale L. Hadley Jr., 19, of 1911 Grand Ave., and Steven B. Taylor, 22, St. Louis, were charged with burglary in felony informational documents issued Wednesday by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

The two men were taken into custody following a break in at the DAV Club, 1417 Nineteenth St., at 3:43 a.m. Wednesday.

Residents filed out of the meeting together after delivering their decision. Later, Smith and board members decided to wait before taking any further action. Board members said no meeting will be held next Wednesday.

Smith said the Brandon Heights situation, which had been holding up a final grant money close out, could take several more weeks, or possibly months, to settle.

After a 20-minute wait, a spokesman for the residents told the board to expedite the checks next Wednesday or remove the lines from their property. Smith had suggested earlier arrangements could not be accomplished in that short a span.

Morris Miles, board chairman, also had told residents he would be out of town next Wednesday. No board meeting has been regularly scheduled for that evening.

rates of the pool facilities for groups and birthday parties also are available at the park office.

The second concert of the Music Under the Stars series will begin June 29 at 8 p.m. at the 27th Street and Delmar Avenue entrance to Wilson Park.

Five big band concerts will be offered at the various parks through Granite City, featuring Stan Fornasewski and his Big Band Machine. The list of concerts are Thursday, July 8, at Sterns Park (Ames and Franklin Avenues); Thursday, July 22, at the Lincoln Place Community Center; Thursday, Aug. 5, at Worthen Park, and Tuesday, Aug. 17, at Wilson Park. All programs begin at 7:30 p.m.

This summer's second feature movie will be shown on the 27th Street side of Wilson Park near the flag poles at Delmar Avenue. "Buck Rogers in the 25th Century" will be shown Thursday, July 8. All shows begin at dusk.

Tickets for the Mundy Opera 1982 season are available at the park office. The district has 28 tickets for each Tuesday night performance at a cost of $9 each, a $2 savings.

Madison seeks more information for redistricting decisions

By ANGELA GRUPAS
of the Press-Record

A map of the city of Madison displaying the location of voters' homes was presented to the city's redistricting committee Tuesday night, but no substantial progress followed.

The state statute was read concerning the laws governing redistricting by City Attorney Casper Nighoshian. In reference to the interpretation of the term "eligible to vote," council members asked Nighoshian to look into the exact meaning of the term before any type of redistricting takes place. Al Hudzik, city controller, is to look into obtaining a list of voters by street address, instead of alphabetically. This will provide a easier way to tabulate the total number of voters in each ward to be redistricted.

A comment from one alderman revealed a need to have more information before the next meeting, with a more precise breakdown of the number of voters in each ward. The next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., Aug. 31, before the regular Council meeting.

Mayor Mike Saasyk presided over the city council meeting, which began with the approval of bills submitted for the period June 9 to 22. The bills were in the amount of $31,938 and the payment was approved by all council members.

City Building Inspector John Duko reported that 15 occupancy permits, two temporary utilities permits, five new inspections and one building permit were issued since the last council meeting.

In the area of new business, bids were received June 16 for the repairing of city streets from the following companies (the state highway department recommended what companies the city of Madison should contract): Morton Salt Co., $20.50 a ton (at their dock) or $43.42 (delivered) for rock salt; Keinstra, $47.50 a yard (delivered) for concrete and the low bid for crack filler was $430 a ton delivered. It was noted that these bids should be approved, so Madison streets can be repaired immediately.

Other bids opened and read by the city clerk were from McClair Asphalt Company in the amount of $24.75 a ton (at the dock) and the Asphalt and Concrete Company of St. Louis submitted a low bid of $16 a ton (at the dock). All were in favor of accepting the low bid of $16, if all requirements will be met.

Mayor Saasyk noted that the asphalt used previously by the city of Madison was supplied by the low bidder. The council approved the payment of bills for the David Connolly Alpine Village Shopping Center in the amount of $34,900 to be paid to Winfield Construction Co. through industrial revenue bonds.

Mayor Saasyk invited everyone to be present at the grand opening of the new shopping center on July 17, at 10 a.m.

Repeated arrests of pair at Kirkpatrick

Glendon F. Jackson, 22, of 3810 Kirkpatrick Homes and a Mitchell boy, 16, were arrested at 10:35 p.m. Tuesday at Kirkpatrick Homes, where police confiscated a club and a baseball bat from them.

It is alleged they beat Tom Farmer, 4905 Kirkpatrick, kicked him and hit him with beer bottles while he was attempting to replace a flat tire on an auto.

After he retaliated by hitting one of them, it is contended that the two returned, broke three windows and damaged a door and two screens of his apartment, as well as breaking a window and damaging a screen at another apartment.

The previous night, at 3:20 a.m. Tuesday, Jackson and a Mitchell boy, 16, both were arrested. Kirkpatrick Homes for disorderly conduct and trespassing and Jackson also was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor for allowing him to violate the curfew law. On that occasion, Jackson was released on $150 bail and the juvenile was released on a $1,000 recognizance bond.

Draw for duck blinds Sunday

Sportsmen who would like to build a duck blind on Horseshoe Lake State Park should plan to attend the public drawing to assign blind sites Sunday, June 27. Registration is from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. with the drawing immediately following registration at the Horseshoe Lake State Park headquarters.

"Twenty-seven blind sites will be assigned and I expect about 270 people to show up for the drawing," said Ranger Howard Stamp of Horseshoe Lake State Park. Hunters planning to draw for blind sites must be present for the drawing in order to claim the site, if their names are drawn, to be eligible to register, hunters must be at least 16 years old and have a 1981 or 1982 state waterfowl hunting stamp unless exempted by age or disability.

Candidates also must have recent Firearms Owner's Identification Card (FOID) card from the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement. FOID cards that have expired 12 months prior to the drawing will be accepted for the drawing, but the hunter must obtain a current card before hunting the site in the fall. Hunters under the age of who are accompanied by an adult with a FOID card will not need a card to register for blinds.

The blind sites will be allocated for one year. ARRESTS IN MADISON Kevin Wiehardt, 28, of 2833 E. 27th St. was arrested during the weekend for careless driving and disobeying a police officer at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue, Madison. Three St. Louisans in another car, Dale Lecura, William Tufts and Steven Bloomer, were charged at the same time with illegal transportation of beer.

Robbery at motel

A very impatient robber, armed with a knife, stole an undetermined amount of money from the night clerk at the Chain of Rocks Motel on West Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell about 12:15 a.m. Wednesday.

The motel employee, Howard Wigger, said that the robber entered, said he wanted a room and filled out a registration card. He waited while other customers checked into the motel, then gave Wigger the card and said he had to leave to get his wallet and would return.

When he returned, the robber reached across the counter with his right hand, grabbed Wigger by the back of his head, held a knife to his throat, ordered the clerk not to make any noise and forced him down into a room. Wigger told authorities the robber then asked where the cash was kept, ordered the clerk to open the cash drawer and warned him that there had better not be an alarm connected to it.

The clerk then separated the cash from the traveler's checks and took the cash and a plastic ice bucket full of open change.

He told Wigger to open the office door and said he was going to take Wigger with him when he left the motel. About that time the telephone rang and Wigger told the robber that if the phone was not answered, the motel owner could come out to investigate. The robber then pushed Wigger behind the counter and ran out the door.

The Madison County Sheriff's Department was notified of the robbery and dispatched deputies and a police dog, who searched the area but failed to find the robber.

The robber was described as a slender white male in his early to mid 30s, having sandy brown hair, a full beard and being very dirty. He wore blue jeans and a short-sleeved shirt.

Burglary charges against 2 in store

Earl L. Dowdy, 23, of an Illinois motel and Dennis D. Spink, 18, of 1739r Edison Ave. were charged with burglary Monday after allegedly being captured by police while they were in the locked E. & L. Confectionery, 2503 Washington Ave., at 4:50 a.m. That day.

Cigarettes, rings and coins are alleged to have been moved, and a bowl of 454 pennies is said to have been dropped outside the sidewalk outside a window of the store.

Entry was gained through a window that contained a fan.

When they appeared before him at 3:25 p.m. Monday, Circuit Judge George Moran set their bonds at $25,000 each.

TAKEN TO COUNTY ON ALLEGED MURDER TRY

Sharon G. Nishek, 27, of 2184 Lee Ave. was arrested this week in the 200 block of Washington Avenue on warrants alleging attempted murder, aggravated assault and two counts of battery. Bonds were set at $100,000, $20,000, $20,000 and $5,000 and she was transferred Tuesday to the Madison County jail. The alleged murder attempt occurred in February.

YOUNG SINGERS. Youngsters of the Word of Life Tabernacle wave flags in preparation for a God Bless America program on Sunday, June 27, at 6 o'clock in the evening at the church, 1200 Meridian St. Following the patriotic program a social hour and refreshments will take place in the fellowship hall, according to the Rev. Henry Crippen, host pastor.

2 ARE AIDED AFTER AUTO HITS BICYCLE

Pamela Murphy, 13, of 2666 Lincoln Ave., who was riding on the handlebars of a bicycle, was hurt at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday when it turned into the path of the northbound auto of Daniel McKinney, 26, of 615 Jefferson Ave., Venice, on Madison Avenue 120 feet south of 22nd Street.

Also taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center was Shirley R. Ray, 14, of 2215 Iowa St., who was operating the northbound bicycle. McKinney said his car was traveling less than 20 miles an hour and he braked in an effort to avoid the girls.

BULLETS ENTER HOME

Bullets were fired from outside into the Gregory Davis home, 302 Wilson Park Lane, at 4:30 a.m. June 12 and again on Friday, between 3 and 7 a.m. A small-caliber weapon was used.

National Steel to supply GM

National Steel Corp. confirmed Wednesday that it has been selected as a steel supplier for General Motors Corp. under GM's new steel sourcing program.

Howard M. Love, National's chairman and president, said, "We are very pleased that National Steel will continue to be a leading supplier of steel to General Motors."

"All of National's employees deserve credit for having helped the corporation achieve excellent performance ratings at GM plants."

"With the natural advantage of having our plants located in the heart of the auto industry, and our dedication to being responsive to the automotive market's needs, we are confident National will continue to earn the right to be a supplier of high-quality steels to GM for years to come."

Delegates attend PEO convention

Two local women have returned from the 1982 Illinois State Chapter Convention of P.E.O. Mrs. Frank L. Kraus, president of Chapter KU and Mrs. Maurice Daily, president of Chapter HT were among more than 350 delegates at the Chicago O'Hare Marriott, last week, for the conclave.

Proverbs 29:18... "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

Our vision must first of all include us! We must believe that God is for us. Once we get the vision of God's ability and desire to give us abundant life, we cannot wait to pass the message on. What God does for us he will do for others! What happens? Souls get saved. Bodies get healed. Believers are filled with the Spirit. The move is on, we have a vision!

After two decades in the Ministry, I can say there are no secrets to the divine flow of God's Spirit. God's people are a faith people. We believe what we do not see. Our faith brings to pass what our spirits can conceive. Jesus said, "All things are possible to him that believeth." We must have a vision of God's ability. It is God who can do all things.

Lord, help us to have a vision of your ability. Today.

The housewives of America are getting out of the kitchen and are kicking their way into the soccer scene by participating in an indoor soccer housewife league at Soccer For Fun. This is the third season for housewife soccer at the indoor soccer complex.

"The majority of the players are housewives. Some are just over 21 years old, so they qualify to play," said Donna York a player from the Old Flames team.

Many of the housewives have children that play soccer. Being exposed to soccer has aroused interest in some ladies to the point of organizing their own team.

Playing soccer is giving some mothers a better understanding of the game when their children play. "I enjoy my kids' games better now that I play, too," said Sandy Keene of Fred's Girls. Mrs. Keene has two boys that play outdoor soccer.

"I have a 14 year old, a 10 year old and a 7 year old who all play soccer," commented housewife, soccer player, Julie Hicks. "I saw a sign for housewife soccer and I joined a team," Mrs. Hicks plays for the Stars.

"I was always here coaching my kids at Soccer For Fun and I thought a housewife team sounded like a lot of fun, so I called some friends and organized a team," said Mrs. York.

"One of the first games I played, I was trying to protect the ball from a goal and it accidentally hit off of my foot and I scored for the other team," commented Sandy Kalips, manager of the Old Flames. "I was embarrassed at first, but it really was funny!"

Winning isn't the most important part of the game. Simply having a good time is our goal. At our age we have to look at it this way.

*Mrs. Kalips
Housewife soccer player*

Sometimes the temptation to use one's hands to stop the ball overcomes a player, but after someone is called for "hands" they learn right from wrong. "Once during a game I used my hands. It's easy to forget and most everyone did at first, but we've got the hang of it now," said Mrs. Keene.

The five teams in the league are Schermer's Early Birds with five wins, one loss and one tie; the Stars with two wins and five losses; the Sleepy Heads with five wins and one tie; the Old Flames with one win, four losses and one tie; and Fred's Girls with one win, four losses and one tie.

"Most of the ladies are new to soccer, so the referees spend most time with them while they play. They explain calls and coach during the game," said Jack Cooper, manager of Soccer For Fun. "The game is played on a lower key," Cooper added.

Ruben Mendoza and Richard Segobiano are the referees for the housewives. Although the game is played on a lower key, the rules remain the same. The ladies must run, kick and sweat as much as any other soccer player.

Most housewives agree that the main reason to play is to have fun. The second most popular reason for playing is for exercise.

"Playing is fun but I admit, I play to exercise and to lose weight," commented Mrs. Keene.

"Winning isn't the most important part of the game. Simply having a good time is our goal. At our age we have to look at it this way," said Mrs. Kalips.

The main goal with housewife indoor soccer is for everyone to learn more about soccer and to have a good time doing it, Mrs. Kalips said.

The teams can practice anytime at the Soccer For Fun building by paying $25 for an hour on the field. The housewives play every Wednesday at 9 a.m. and 10 a.m. There are only two more sessions left in this league then another league is planned for July.

Housewives that want out of the kitchen can do so by joining a housewife soccer team in July. Call Cooper at 797-0619 for more information. Individuals or teams are welcome. Soccer For Fun is located at 4141 Highway 111.

Hitting improves; Legion downs Nationals

GRANITE CITY — Granite City Junior American Legion Post 113, playing in the North (St. Louis) County Junior Legion League, handily defeated American National Tuesday night 8-4. The win bolsters Granite City's record to 3-4.

With the help of some clutch hitting, and a strong defense, Jim Burton, now 1-1, went the distance for Granite City, picking up his first pitching victory of the season.

Granite City coach, Dave Coakley called the young Burton "a real level-headed pitcher."

"Burton's an excellent pitcher," Coakley said. "He keeps his cool on the mound, and he's got a great breaking ball...I don't know why they didn't use him more at North (Granite City High School North)," Coakley said.

Burton surrendered only seven hits, while the Granite City bats tagged National pitching for nine.

The Granite City offense faced an arsenal of National hurlers in the contest. In the first inning, the GC juniors clubbed starting pitcher Tim Reedy for three straight hits and runs before National coach Ed Riedy relieved Reedy with Ronnie Reese. Reese went three and half innings for National before Tom Shearer relieved him in the fourth.

All in all, Shearer did the best job of shutting down the Granite City scoring attack. After Shearer took the mound in the fourth, Granite City scored only once, in the sixth.

"We're a good team. We've got some great pitchers," Coakley said. "We're better than our record indicates, and as soon as we get some meat on our bats we'll be tough to beat," he said.

Granite City displayed some of that aggressiveness as they managed three runs in the first inning. Designated hitter Dan Whitel reached in the first inning when he was struck by a Reddy pitch. The next three Granite City batters moved Whitel and each other around with consecutive singles to give the hometown boys the early lead.

Granite City scored in the second inning to take a 4-0 lead when Greg Nemeth reached on an error by National's second baseman Todd Pridemore. Nemeth stole second and was moved around by a fielder's choice and an error.

In the third inning, Granite City equalized their first inning tally as Jim Moulden reached first when Reese's breaking ball nipped him on the leg. Randy Thurman singled to advance Jim Moad, who was pinch running for ailing Moulden, to third. On the next pitch, Moad scampered home on a pass ball.

Then with Thurman on second, Nemeth filled a vacant first base as he reached on a walk.

Burton helped his own cause as he belted a sacrifice fly center field to score Thurman to give Granite City 4-0 lead.

Tom Adamitas picked up his second RBI of the game when he singled in Nemeth to pace Granite City to a 7-0 lead at the end of three.

It was Adamitas' bat that eventually set up the final Granite City run in the sixth. Leading off that inning, he singled, stole second, advanced to third on Terry Rujawitz's fly to right field, and scored on Mark Dowdy's single.

American National picked up two runs in their half of the fourth, another in the sixth and a final run in the seventh.

The loss dropped National's record to 4-3.

Carich is 'building' his way towards a comeback

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

What is the mystical urge in mankind (both men and women, of course) which compels them to spend countless hours in lonely solitude pursuing excellence, in their chosen sport?

One can, of course, understand the football half-back, or quarterback, for example, for devoting thousands of hours honing his or her skills because they have at least two big motivational drives: the cheers of hundreds, yes, even millions via TV and radio, reams of printed words extolling them and, these days, the rewards of literally millions of dollars in blind-bidding contracts.

The same is true of baseball, basketball, soccer and hockey players and the individual athletes such as tennis and golf stars.

The rewards, from a money standpoint, are enough to explain why the men and women participating have been willing to make these sacrifices necessary to reach their goals.

These thoughts kept running through my mind as I started my interview of a man, Steve Carich, who is a star in his field of athletics which is hardly a household word in America, namely body building.

To older Americans, such as this reporter, the man most identified in this field was the truly amazing, Mister Bernard McAden.

Carich, who was born and raised in Granite City, has won many, many trophies in his lonely sport. And, it is a solitary sport. Body building is a sport which requires an almost unbelievable amount of stern self-discipline and a grim determination to continue one's drills when the body's agony and pain cries out to the athlete to quit, if only for a few seconds.

The 47-year-old Carich is, in fact, in the middle of a comeback try, an effort to regain the skills that had won him a whole slew of trophies in national body-building competition until a back injury sidelined him about 20 years ago. At the time of the injury, he tried to rebound but, in the process, only added to his problems.

He felt, then, consequently that his career in body building, or, as he says more accurately describes his sport, progressive weight training, was over and done for. So, with great regrets, he thought that his career was over, but a short time ago, Ron Shafer, a native of Granite City, built and opened the Spartan Spa out on Route 111. One day Carich drove by the health club from his home in Glen Carbon enroute to Granite City and saw the Spa.

Upon investigation, Carich decided that he would attempt another comeback.

"Ron and Russ (Rench), the spa's manager, have installed the most comprehensive physical training layout in the entire St. Louis metropolitan area. They have everything that a person needs to keep himself, or herself, in shape."

The Spartan Spa has approximately 10,000 square feet under one roof and two outdoor tennis courts. In time, said Carich, the club will have an indoor swimming pool and a whirlpool.

Carich right now is working overtime preparing himself in hopes of competing in one of the biggest national tournaments he's competed in: the over 40 National North American Body Building championship late this month.

In talking to Carich about his unusual career, one gets the same feeling when talking to such legendary athletes as Stan Musial, Red Grange, Bobby Riggs and other tennis greats, etc., and that is: here is a man who wants to be the best in his field. And, is ready... and willing... to pay the price of achieving that goal in terms of physical pain.

When one meets Carich the first time, as I did, one gets the impression that here is another typical Mr. Joe Lunch Bucket, God Bless them all, who has just finished a day's work out of Plumber's Union Local 360 in East St. Louis, a member of which he really is.

You quickly realize that this man is deadly serious about the use of drugs in sports. Says he vehemently: "I'm a natural body builder. I don't take anabolic steroids. They're what we call 'growth drugs' and nearly all athletic bodies, including the World Olympics, have outlawed them. This doesn't mean that some athletes still don't try to sneak them in. Our sport severely polices their use. For example, I'll have to arrive in Kansas City Thursday before the meet on Saturday to undergo tests to be sure that I have not been taking them."

However, he says, smiling: "I don't frown on the use of natural food supplements."

In his present comeback try, he explains, he has avoided the use of heavy dead lifts and heavy squatting lifting.

In his most prestigious championship he won at Louisville, Ky., in 1961, when he was crowned "Miss Ohio Valley." His "hero" is the immortal John Grimek of New York City. "He was the greatest and still works out though he's in his late 70's."

The sports biggest international show of the year is the Natural Mister America to be held in Utica, N.Y., in October. The meet at Kansas City will draw crowds of two to three thousand at each session.

"But," he explains, "one concentrates so much on it is hardly aware of the crowd." His routine now is six days a week in periods of 35 to 45 minutes of intensive training sessions. "Sure, it's lonely, but I think it's worth it."

I can see Carich, under the spot lights, in the finals at Kansas City. He'll have a lot of Granite City natives cheering him on.

CLOSE BUT... Tri-City American Legion catcher Daren DePew, right, crouches down to grab the baseball, but the throw came in too late to tag Alton's Dave Stuppich out at home plate. Alton defeated Tri-City 6-3 Monday, but Tri-City came back to beat Bethalto 3-2 Tuesday.

Tri-City holds on, edges Bethalto

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

BETHALTO — Al Yount, the Tri-City American Legion baseball manager, wasn't worried about a late-inning rally by Bethalto Tuesday. He had George Diak on his side.

Tri-City, which had lost two games last week because the pitching gave out in the late innings, threatened to do the same thing again, but Diak threw the ball past Bethalto to cling to a 3-2 Triplet victory in District 22 North Division game.

On Monday, Tri-City lost to North Division leader Alton 6-3. The Triplets are 7-4 for the season and 4-4 in District 22.

In losses to East Alton and Cahokia last week, the Triplets had leads of 6-0 and 3-0, but saw the leads turn into losses because the pitching didn't last past the fifth or sixth inning.

Therefore, it would be understandable if Yount was worried about a Bethalto comeback in the sixth inning. After giving up two hits in the first inning, he did not give up another hit until the sixth inning. Standeford, the leading pitcher, gave up five hits.

"I knew we were going to come back after losing to Alton the night before," Yount said. "We talked after the Alton game, and they said they would be ready to play, and I said I hoped we would. They got going tonight and did almost everything well."

Alton's Doug Orban almost single-handedly defeated Tri-City. Orban had two RBIs with two singles and a sacrifice fly.

Linhart had two RBIs for Tri-City in the seventh inning with a triple.

"We didn't come out talking to each other," Yount said. "We didn't support our pitching because we didn't help him out and we weren't charging for the ball."

Tri-City hosts Edwardsville tonight at 6 p.m. and plays at East St. Louis Saturday at 6 p.m. Alton defeated Edwardsville 10-3 Tuesday.

Diak pitched the sixth and seventh innings, and Fouch scored. Fouch singled and Eddie Barrett walked for Bethalto to load the bases.

Schnefke had a 2-0 count on Loren Shroat and Yount placed Diak in the game. Diak walked Shroat to force home runs, but Yount wasn't too upset.

"He had just come in from a flat bullpen area to a mound. It's had to come back and get a batter when you're behind 2-0," Yount said.

Tri-City catcher Daren DePew tried to pick off Barrett at second, but the throw went into center field and Fouch scored. Ironically, center fielder Tom Newton threw Barrett to second on Diak then struck out Duane Rosecrans to end the inning.

Diak opened the seventh inning by walking Craig Short, but Diak threw out Barry Bodenback at first on a sacrifice bunt and struck out Joe Contratto and Paul Standeford to save the game for Schnefke.

"I knew he was throwing hard," Yount said. "I saw him warming up and I wasn't worried about Bethalto coming back. The way George was pitching in warm-ups, they were going to swing late at the ball."

With Diak's performance in relief Tuesday, Yount may have found the answer to Tri-City's late inning doldrums.

George has had tendons pretty bad for the last two or three years, and it's been hurting kind of bad lately. He'll probably be pitching relief until the end of the year when we play a lot of games close together. He's a good, hard pitcher, and I want to use him like this the rest of the year," Yount said.

Errors were also a key in Tri-City's victory. Bethalto made three errors in the second inning to give the Triplets two runs.

Rick Daily reached on an error by Contratto and went to second on Buford's error on a pickoff play at first. DePew hit a single which moved Daily to third. Mike Zukas grounded to shortstop Barrett who threw home to try to get Daily but he was safe, and Buford's second throwing error allowed DePew to go to third. DePew scored on Newton's grounder to short.

Tri-City's other run came in the fifth inning. Milt Roe walked and scored on John Linhart's triple.

Schnefke was effective for his five and one-third inings. After giving up two hits in the first inning, he did not give up another hit until the sixth inning. Standeford, the leading pitcher, gave up five hits.

"I knew we were going to come back after losing to Alton the night before," Yount said. "We talked after the Alton game, and they said they would be ready to play, and I said I hoped we would. They got going tonight and did almost everything well."

Alton's Doug Orban almost single-handedly defeated Tri-City. Orban had two RBIs with two singles and a sacrifice fly.

Linhart had two RBIs for Tri-City in the seventh inning with a triple.

Corral Liquors downs McDonald's 6-3

In what can be described as a real nail biter, Corral Liquors defeated intra-city rival McDonald's 6-3 in a rescheduled Inter-City League game Wednesday evening. The win puts Corral, now 5-3 on the season, with a better winning percentage than McDonald's, now 6-4.

McDonald's jumped to an early lead in the first inning with two runs, but Corral retaliated in their half of second inning to cut the McDonald lead in half, 2-1.

The game remained close through the middle innings until the sixth when Corral blew the game open with five runs to take a 6-1 lead. Corral's Jeff Stamper cracked a two out single in that inning to score both Larry Burns, and Warren Buster to ice the win.

McDonald's managed a sixth inning run of their own, but it was too little to take as Corral sealed their fifth win of the season.

For Corral, Doug Rains picked up the victory. His record in 1-1 on the season. McDonald's Tim Kirksey and Keith Burton shared the pitching duties. Kirksey was tagged for the loss.

Youths to compete in pitch, hit, throw

Quad-City youths will again have the opportunity to compete in Pitch, Hit and Throw competition this Fourth of July weekend.

After an absence of two years, both boys and girls ages six to 13 may compete in the July 3 event, according to Jaycee representative Ray Sampson Jr.

The youths who wish to participate should meet at Wilson Park's diamond five on Saturday at 10 a.m. to register. Actual competition will begin at 11 a.m.

Children will compete in three age categories: six and seven years; eight and nine years; 10 and 11 years and 12 and 13 years. In each phase of competition, youths will have three opportunities to display their best efforts.

In hitting competition, youths will be given three opportunities to drive a long ball. In pitching competition, youths will be given three balls in which to throw strike, and finally, in the throw competition, emphasis will be stressed on distance.

Further information about the competition may be obtained by calling Sampson at 878-4026.

Cup Tourney registration

The St. Louis Amateur Sports Council announced that registration has begun for the St. Louis Cup softball tournament set for Lyon's Park, July 3-4.

The tourney, which is part of the new V.P. Games project, is an Amateur Softball Association (ASA) sanctioned event for men's and women's teams.

The entry fee is $60 for an ASA team or $70 per unit for a non-ASA team. The additional $10 covers the membership fee in the ASA and the resulting benefits.

The St. Louis Cup will consist of two tournaments — a 12-team, double elimination event for men and an identical tourney for women. Each game will be officiated by two ASA sanctioned umpires.

To register, make out a check or money order to Metro St. Louis Area and mail to George Kisey, St. Louis Department of Parks, Recreation and Forestry, 3600 Clayton Rd., St. Louis, Mo. 63117 or call Jim Farrell of the Parks staff at 314-533-0100.

Champion signs with Cards' farm

By AL BARNES
 For the Press-Record
 Keith Champion, one of the best baseball players produced in Granite City, has been signed by the St. Louis Cardinals and has reported to the Red Birds' Class A New York-Penn League Erie club. Young Champion, who was working in Red Turner's Atlanta, Ga., TV station as a graphics artist since the first of year, left immediately for New York after inking his contract.

Details of the signing were not known, according to Conrad (Babe) Champion, Keith's father and former varsity baseball coach at Granite City South.

Last summer, young Champion was the No. 1 catcher for the Southwestern Illinois Civics semi-pro team and his solid 300 while driving in 18 runs as he and his teammates posted a lofty 28-11 record.

After a standout career playing for the Happy Warriors, Champion was signed by Coach Bill Rowe at Southwestern Missouri State in Springfield, Mo.

In his junior and senior seasons at Southwest Missouri State, Champion was chosen on the all-conference first team of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association. His senior year he hit .340, leading 400 for the Bears.

Keith's surge to hitting at a .400 clip, according to his father, came about as he declared, came about as he declared to become a switch-hitter. His sophomore year, the young catcher had upped his hitting from around 200 as a freshman to a respectable 270.

But, on switching to hitting from both sides of the plate, he zoomed to .347 as a junior and then closed out his college career by topping the magical .400 his fourth year.

Kicker camp

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Camp for soccer enthusiasts begins this Monday at Granite City High School South.

The camp will run through this Friday, July 2, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Granite City High School South's coach, Gene Baker and Rockhurst College's Tony Tocco will lead the camp.

In addition to instruction by Baker and Tocco, campers will be treated to a special session Wednesday by Bob Fritzen coach of Illinois State University's soccer team. In addition to the special session featuring Fritzen on Wednesday, Baker has planned a free coach's clinic that evening at the high school's gymnasium annex. The starting of the clinic is 7 p.m.

Prediction: Connors to upset McEnroe in Wimbledon finale

Ahhh, Summertime.
 'Tis the season of backyard barbecues, weekends of water skiing and timeless tennis matches.
 Speaking of tennis, Wimbledon action began this week, and it looks to be one of the most memorable. Wimbledon 1982 will go down as the year that Bjorn Borg didn't qualify because he hasn't played enough, it's the first anniversary of John McEnroe's infamous tantrum, and very possibly one of Chris Evert Lloyd's last years on the circuit as she's talking of motherhood.

Lloyd, the three-time Wimbledon champion is 27, talking of children, and slowing life down. She's an elder in a sport where each year players seem to get younger.

This year an aging Chrisy is not seeded first for what seems like the first time in six or seven years. A slightly younger Martina Navratilova grabbed the top seed in women's competition, followed by still younger seeds Kathy Rinaldi, 15 years, Andrea Jaeger, 17 years, and Tracy Austin at 20.

 One person who seems as though a year of age has benefited is McEnroe. It seems Father Time has taken nothing away from the 22-year-old's game in the last year, but he has improved his disposition.

If his first game is any indication of what's to come, the world may see a new John McEnroe at Wimbledon. The first round without so much as a whimper. Last year McEnroe was fined $10,000 for "poor sportsmanship."

With the absence of Borg, who since losing his number rating has been denying tennis invitations and Wimbledon, and Ivan Lendl, who allegedly is allergic to grass, Jimmy Connors of Miami Beach, Fla., formerly of Belleville, is seeded second behind McEnroe.

Without Borg, Connors, now 30, will have his best chance in eight years to grab the title he last held in 1974. For Connors, Borg has been the proverbial thorn in his side.

Now Vitas Gerulaitis is seeded third, behind Connors.

 Odds makers are betting that it will be McEnroe and Connors in the championship match. In fact, Connors is given odds of 7-3 to defeat McEnroe in the prestigious tournament, and Gerulaitis is given a 10-1 shot.

Deja vu.

As far as predictions go, if McEnroe can keep a cool head, his game and his image will definitely benefit from it, but I look for Connors to upset McEnroe in the championship match. Connors has been training hard for "one last big victory." I'm going to go out on a limb and pick Connors, the underdog, to take all the marbles.

As usual, there were some first round upsets. The first being the English crowd. Rain has postponed or delayed play on two of the first three days of play. Seriously, Chip Hooper, who is described as a 25-year-old 6-foot-6 giant with a "cannonball" service, upset eighth seeded Peter McNamara. An aging Stan Smith upset number nine seeded Andrei Gomek, the reigning Italian Open champion. It was Smith's first appearance on grass since his elbow was operated nearly six months ago.

Legionnaires fall to Belleville 6-2

Despite their fifth loss in as many games, Junior American Legion baseball coach Jeff Parker said his team's 6-2 loss to Belleville Tuesday night was a victory of sorts.

"I look at it this way," Parker said. "We've managed to cut down on errors each game. Against Belleville we committed only four errors, so we've been able to eliminate some errors every game. When we eliminate the errors, we're going to win some ball games," Parker said.

The game was actually closer than is indicated by the score. Belleville only outlaid the Granite City juniors by one, as they managed four hits.

The difference of the game was the second inning when Granite City allowed Belleville four runs on just one hit. The local boys committed two errors in that inning, both of them costly.

This Saturday evening, June 26, the Granite City Junior Legion team extends its thanks to all those who have offered support and donations, enabling the team to play this summer.

Street stocks, mini prints at Tri-City

By JOE SENTER
 Street Stock Cars and Mini Sprint Cars will join the Late Model Stock Cars and Sprint Cars beginning this Saturday night, June 26th.

The Street Stocks are the cheap way for new race drivers to start racing, to have fun and make a little money. About any kind of car will be allowed to race in this class as long as it meets the safety rules. These rules can be obtained at the Speedway.

The Mini Sprint are about the looks of a Dune Buggy. These are also a cheaper way to get into racing.

Both classes of these cars will be racing on the one-fourth mile dirt track, while the Late Model Stock Cars and Sprint Cars will be racing on the one-half mile dirt track.

On July 3rd, still another class will be joining in the races. This will be Mighty Midgates and Go-Karts.

This Saturday night, June 26th will be sponsored by the Huether's Hardware Co. of Granite City and the July 3rd event will be sponsored by Corral Liquors of Granite City.

There will also be a Demolition Derby on July 10th.

Races will be starting at a new time of 7:30 p.m. For more information call Dennis Scott at 797-4579.

CHOUTEAU FLAG. Chouteau Township now has its own flag, thanks to the design efforts of Tax Assessor Marion Sparks, right, and artist Matthew Hopke, left. The flag shows the location of the township on the Mississippi River with designs recalling Lewis and Clark's Expeditions, the state bird and other symbols of the area. The flag, bearing the words, "The Golden Years," honors the township's senior citizens.

Gosentino says seniors are discriminated against in state driving examinations

State Treasurer Jerry Gosentino said that he believes that senior citizens are being discriminated against in driver's license testing.

Gosentino, the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, said that he will move in the next session of the General Assembly to amend the Illinois law requiring persons 60 years of age and older to take the complete driver's license examination each time of license renewal.

"Senior citizens are the safest drivers in Illinois," Gosentino said. "Why should they be discriminated against by forcing them to take the complete test?"

Gosentino referred to a new Illinois law, effective July 1, 1982, which says that all driver's license renewal applicants under the age of 60 are not required to take the written or road tests if they have clean records at the time of renewal.

"Department of Transportation statistics show that drivers 65 and older were 96.1 percent accident free during the years 1978-80," Gosentino said. "The senior citizens' safety record is twice as good as any other age group. If all other drivers are being rewarded for being accident free, why not our seniors?"

Gosentino said that Illinois is the only state that requires a complete examination after age 69. Four states require re-examination after age 75.

"I will propose an amendment to the new law deleting the provision requiring senior citizens to take the complete examination if they have no traffic violations or accidents on their records at the time of renewal. Driving and written tests will be waived if special circumstances do not exist. Senior citizens will be treated like everybody else," Gosentino said.

Seek home for abused teenage boy

A one or two parent foster family is needed in the local area to care for John, who is 13, according to Pat Stallion, resources development worker with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Tall, slender and athletic, John has grey eyes and blond hair. Described by his social worker as quiet and sensitive, he was physically and emotionally abused in his own home.

Although two-parent foster families are preferred for younger children, a single parent, able to set and maintain common-sense rules, would be considered for John.

He would do best with an active family that would encourage him in developing his athletic skills, which are considerable, the DCF's said.

All department foster parents are oriented, trained and supervised by department social workers.

After attending four training sessions, submitting reference names and medical information, undergoing a criminal background check and meeting with licensing workers, new foster parents are ready to consider taking foster children into their homes.

The licensing and training process, for which there is no charge, usually takes about two months.

Foster parents receive monthly board payments ranging from $190 for an infant to $235 for a teenager. Additional special service fees also are available.

All foster parents have the option of turning down any child referred for placement, and meet regularly with department social workers.

Foster parents, who specify the age, sex and number of children they choose to work with, are contacted to turn down any child who would not fit into their family.

All medical, dental and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are also paid by the state. Quad-Cityans interested in caring for John are contacting Debbie Storman at 875-2400.

Utility rate balance sought; local hearing

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Illinois Power Co. is balancing consumers' present and future needs in attempting to limit rates while providing the necessary energy production capacity, Granite City Rotarians have been told by Charles W. Wells.

Meanwhile, the public will have a chance to respond to IP rate hike requests at a hearing July 28 in the Granite City Township Hall, William Steiner of a Madison citizen group has been notified.

Executive vice-president of the Decatur-based, state-regulated electric utility, Wells said IP's ability to meet Illinoisans' fuel requirements hinges on two factors:

1. Completion by 1984 of its 900-megawatt nuclear-powered electric generating plant at Clinton.

2. Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) approval of requests for higher power and gas rates.

Public hearings on the proposed rates are set for 6:30 p.m. July 8 at the East St. Louis center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and 6:30 p.m. July 23 at the Belleville City Hall.

The ICC scheduled the hearings after receiving requests from city, township and county officials. Rate boosts also are being contested by some industries and by the Illinois attorney general, Wells acknowledged.

construction decisions by many customers.

Tall office buildings were erected, many with poor insulation and inefficient heating and cooling systems.

These were logical at the time because fuel was cheaper than the cost of designing and building offices differently. But the low gas prices, still well below most competing fuels, distorted planning of facilities.

ELECTRICITY—The question in many people's minds is: Why build costly power plants which are not needed at present and may not be needed ever?

Although there is no simple answer, electric utilities are trying to become more flexible and adaptable.

They are providing less power-producing capacity than may be wise, and "hedging their bet" by preparing themselves so that new power plants could be built in perhaps two or three years after the need for them developed.

"We're retaining sites for coal and nuclear plants, getting them licensed, environmental studies and keeping the licensing up-to-date," Wells commented.

"We are financially healthy and efficient, and need to remain that way so that borrowing can be accomplished without excessive cost."

"Our Standard & Poor rating has slipped from AAA to AA- and we are well aware of how Commonwealth Edison gradually changed from AAA to AA- and then BBB, costing that utility a half-percent interest and hundreds of thousands of dollars when financing hundreds of millions of dollars."

"Rate increases must be approved here and elsewhere or there are going to be power shortages by the mid-1980s."

"We agree that the U.S. Department of Energy should be eliminated as a way of saving governmental costs."

"We agree that the department's estimate that electric companies should strive for reserve capacity 20 percent beyond their current load. Our Clinton plant will temporarily give us 33 percent excess capacity but that will decrease rapidly, since we have no additional new plants under construction."

"For many years, generating capacity was rising 7 percent nationally while the gross national product was increasing 3 or 3.5 percent a year."

"With less inflation, greater conservation and more efficient use of electricity, we are estimating a need to increase capacity by 2 to 2.5 percent a year from now into the 1990s, in contrast to the historic 7 percent growth."

"The Energy Department worries the utilities may be simply trying to avoid expensive construction and reduce the burden on their stockholders. I don't know if that's what is happening."

"I do know that, while we foresee further improvement in fuel conservation, we also think that areas of the U.S. are going to be experiencing shortages of electricity."

"Some business leaders are predicting that such shortages will be severe. They warn that they will consider power availability when choosing future expansion sites."

"The reason why such big utility rate increases are necessary is reflected by what has happened to costs. Coal costs, for example, have tripled.

"If we were making the decision today, we would hesitate to start a nuclear plant that is going to cost $2 billion and take 12 years to complete, or a coal-fired power plant costing $1 billion and requiring 10 years to build."

"Our present approach is to try to stay as healthy and flexible as possible, and able to react quickly to power needs."

"We are continuing research and development, such as the Wood River project to produce fuel from high-sulfur Illinois coal."

"Research also is needed so that power plants can be built in smaller units and constructed more speedily. However, for now, larger plants are required by the economics."

"Commonwealth Edison bonds last year cost 18 1

DeMolay Mothers fete officers

The DeMolay Mothers Club honored Past Presidents of the organization with a pot luck dinner at the monthly meeting, held last week at the Masonic Temple.

DeMolays escorted the past presidents to their seats. President Ruby Sullivan presided over the meeting, and past president, Verna Stuart offered prayer. A gift was presented to each of the past presidents and after the business meeting, games were played and prizes were given to the winners.

The club voted to give $100 to the DeMolay chapter for leadership conference attendees and $100 for the 1982 convocation on the campus of Western Illinois University at Macomb, Ill., in August.

Past presidents attending were Liz Gibbons, Shirley Schilling, Pauline Sentiff, Burdine Holtzcher, Ella Wade, Carolyn Teaney, Lillian Baumeier and Verna Stuart. Others present were Louise Favier, Pat Tsigalaroff, Peggy Hackney, Helen Smith, Marlene Forbes, Lois Hebbethwaite, Mary Stuart, Anne Wolford, Jo Meyer, Charlotte Mize and Ginny Cotter.

Delegates attend state convention

Delegates representing the Eagles Auxiliary 1128 attended the 34th Illinois State Convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles held at the Holiday Inn East, Springfield, Ill.

Those attending from this area included Angie Buehler, Eileen Rickert, Gladys Freeman and Leona Delahoye.

During a club year the auxiliary donates to various charitable organization which includes the Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, Jimmy Durante Fund, Golden Eagle Fund, state disaster fund, Eagles Educational Fund and the City of Hope, according to the group. This past year a total of $70,000 was contributed by the women's organization, they added.

Mattie Maradanian of North Shore, Chicago, was elected president, during the session. She announced her special project for the year is Winning Wheels, Inc., which is an aid program for the handicapped residents at Prophetstown, Ill.

Richard Patton is party honoree

Richard Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Stephens, 2817 Willow Ave., was honored with a barbecue prior to his departure to Fort Jackson for basic training last week.

The party was hosted by his family which included Shirley Patton, Theresa Patton, Marcia Stephens, Christine Patton and Valerie Stephens.

Thirty-one guests attended the buffet style affair. The honoree graduated from Granite City High School South this month and then enlisted in the U. S. Army. He will be stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., after completing basic training in six weeks.

Fourth child for Mr. & Mrs. Wesley

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick (Karen) Wesley, 4704 Benning Ave., announce the birth of their third son, Dustin Albert, on Tuesday, June 15 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The new arrival, who weighed seven pounds and 13 ounces, has two brothers, Michael and Brandon and a sister, Maggie.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Shirley) Kibort of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott of Gillespie, Ill.

Margaret Scott of Granite City is the great-grandmother.

Couple attends reunion in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Worley returned home last week after attending the Hoelscher-Buxkemper family reunion held in San Angelo, Tex. The two day affair, at the San Angelo Colosseum was attended by 809 family members, including 28 guests.

This was one of the biggest family reunions ever held according to the Worleys. The family meets every two years in a different city in Texas and in 1984, the affair will be held in Austin, Texas.

While in Texas, the couple visited several places of interest, Gilley's and the Nasa Space Center in Houston, the Astro Dome and San Marcos Aquacene Springs, and other relatives in Southeast Texas.

Virgil Worley's mother was a Hoelscher before her marriage.

Dinner honors past regents

Twelve past regents of the Granite City Chapter 247, Women of the Moose, were accorded special honors at a dinner held in the Moose Lodge, last week.

Iris Chastain, Margaret Fronabarger and Ruth Stover were the hostesses for the dinner.

After the dinner hour, games were played and each member received a gift.

At the business meeting the members completed some plans concerning money making projects, with the proceeds to be donated to the children at Mooseheart. Other plans for the ensuing business year, to begin July 1, are already underway, it was noted.

The next business meeting will be held on July 7.

Those present included Theola Garcia, Clara Johnson, Virginia Sever, Mildred Votougal, Dorothy Coy, Rosella Mead, Verlyn Ballmer, Edna Miller and Marian Lipscomb.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 14.

Top entertainers slated for state fair

Top entertainers, including country superstars, will highlight the grandstand shows at this year's Illinois State Fair Aug. 5 through 15 in Springfield, Governor James R. Thompson has announced.

The lineup includes Country Music Association's "Entertainer of the Year," Barbara Mandrell, State Fair fourth-timer Willie Nelson and other top 10 country singers. Don Williams, Eddie Rabbitt and Ronnie Milsap. The Beach Boys will be returning for their fourth appearance at the fair.

"We felt last year's grandstand lineup was a good one, but this year's is even better. And we are currently negotiating with several other big name rock and country acts and hope to have even more good news shortly," Thompson said. "For the second year in a row, the fair also will be putting 1,500 tickets on sale the day of each show at just $2 per person. That means that a family of four can see this outstanding talent for only $8, a bargain that is hard to find these days."

Willie Nelson is scheduled for two days of entertainment on Wednesday, Aug. 11 and Thursday, Aug. 12 with an 8 p.m. showtime each performance.

Appearing Saturday, Aug. 7 for two shows at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. will be Barbara Mandrell, in her second straight year at the fair.

Don Williams and George Strait will open entertainment at the grandstand with their performances at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 5.

Eddie Rabbitt will be on stage for two shows Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. The Beach Boys will perform at the same times Friday, Aug. 13. Ronnie Milsap and Sue Powell will be featured for the two performances Saturday, Aug. 14.

Fitness activist Richard Simmons will put on a free exercise show the last day of the fair. The time will be announced at a later date.

Performances for the evenings of Friday, Aug. 6 and Monday, Aug. 9 will be announced at a later date. Other attractions at the grandstand range from two days of tractor pulls to a new pompon competition.

At 9 a.m. Friday, Aug. 6 and Saturday, Aug. 7, the tractor pull competition will commence. Sunday, Veteran's Day, will feature a free Drum and Bugle Competition starting at 8 a.m.

Harness Racing is featured for four days starting at 11:30 a.m. Monday, Aug. 9. Monday's harness racing is free to the public.

Activities for Youth Day will fill the Grandstand

GC resident Service to assist with mail problems graduates

If you thought you ordered one thing by mail and received another, you are one of the consumers who made mail order problems the number one consumer complaint in the country the last nine years.

But a new service by the federal government and American Express Co. may help, according to Ray Bernardi, director of the Center for Economic Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Called "Mail Order Rights ConsumerCard," the easily understood guide for mail order shoppers is available free from the Consumer Information Center in Pueblo, Colo. In plain language, it tells how to shop by mail and where to turn for help if a problem arises, he said. Designed to be carried in the wallet, it is an easy reference to the federal regulations protecting the legal rights of mail order buyers. Single copies are free by writing to Mail Order Rights, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. For copies in multiples of 25, write to Mail Order Rights ConsumerCard, Consumer Affairs Office (16th Floor), American Express Company, American Express Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10004. For additional information, contact Bernardi at 616-692-2732.

BAC to sponsor EMT refresher course

Belleville Area College will offer an Emergency Medical Technician refresher course during the summer 1982 semester. The class will meet from 6 to 8:45 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday from July 5 to 21 at the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. The instructor is Leroy Weck.

For information, call Judy Bravin, 235-2700, extension 301.

Friday, Aug. 13, starting at 9 a.m. with the pompon competition and an Earth Ball Youth Race.

Saturday, Aug. 14 will bring a different kind of race to the grandstand, when the annual 100-mile dirt car championship gets underway. Racing will continue Sunday with a 100-mile stock car race. Both are sanctioned by the United States Auto Club.

Tickets went on sale for all shows June 14 at the grandstand ticket office and at Ticketron centers throughout the state. The Ticketron service, new to the fair, will provide about $5 additional outlets this year where tickets can be purchased through a computerized system. The grandstand office opens at 10 a.m. the first day of sales and will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:40 p.m.

Visa and MasterCard purchases will be accepted over the telephone and tickets will be mailed to patrons. Call 217-782-1979 for this service. People also can write for tickets to P.O. Box 576, Illinois State Fair, Springfield, Ill. 62705.

Tickets for evening entertainment shows are $7, $6 and $4. Harness race tickets are $4 and $2 and admission is free the first day of harness racing. Stock car and dirt car race tickets sell for $8, $7, $6 and $5.

Good news and bad news for the local taxpaying public

Good news about taxes this week was followed by bad news about taxes.

Most real estate tax rates are down for this summer's collection, some substantially. And the collection cycle itself is a bit earlier than before (although still too late to minimize governmental agencies' borrowing and maximize their investments).

The lower rates and faster billing are happy developments. But forged court orders have enabled about $150,000 in public funds to be spirited away by an attorney claiming to be representing defendants, the Press-Record relates in today's issue.

Circuit Clerk William "Butch" Portelli plans to file suit to reclaim the money from a prominent lawyer, and we hope the suit is successful. Taxpayers cannot afford to see that much of their money vanish into someone's pocketbook for unauthorized personal use.

We also find it distasteful that an associate professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was one of 30 state employees charged in a single month this spring with failing to file state income tax returns. (We don't mean to be picking on Collinsville today, but the lady at SIUE and the artful defense attorney both live in that city.)

Nobody likes to pay taxes but we all have to pay them. And those who are on a supported government payroll would seem to have a special obligation to help build up the governmental coffers from which their salaries are paid.

State income tax violations are class B misdemeanors, punishable by a fine up to $500 per count and up to six months in jail.

Unfortunately, probation and $100 fines seem to be the pattern this year for college faculty members, state departmental data analysts and other highly-educated people caught bailing their employer, Illinois.

Even a Governor's State University professor who resides in Park Forest and was nabbed for willful failure to file returns for three years in a row got off with court supervision and a minimum fine. Judges around the state seem to be sending a message, and we are not sure we like what it says. Doesn't anyone care about such shenanigans by state employees who obviously know they are doing wrong?

Madison County judges and prosecutors have been completely cleared, incidentally, even though some of their judgments, especially in the court orders issued to separate Madison County from their money in the aforementioned $130,000 scandal. The way their names got on the court documents is through a photocopying method; they had no way of knowing that a forger was doing this.

Let's see; that's bad news outpointing good news 2 to 1, so far. Definitely in the category of good news is that Madison County no longer is going to require home owners to reapply yearly for partial assessment exemptions under Senate Bill 1980. It was intended to help ease the impact of inflation on property values. The exemption will be applied automatically, eliminating taxpayers' worry about it and reducing administrative costs.

Additional good news, at least for the law-abiding portion of the taxpaying public, is that a crackdown is likely on unreported earnings that otherwise would produce federal income taxes. Such tax avoidance has been increasing the burden needlessly on people who pay their share.

Pontoon Lions' community awards are worthy of praise

We think it's great.

The concept of honoring citizens of the year has become a tradition in Pontoon Beach, Illinois, thanks to the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, which deserves a round of applause for its efforts.

Congratulations, of course, are in order for Edgar and Sylvia Patrick, this year's winners of the previous six years. For it's not an easy award to win. Those who have earned the distinction of citizens of the year have devoted many years to helping the village grow. The Patricks, for example, were leaders in successful drives to have the village incorporated and in the formation of the highly-successful Lake Volunteer Fire Department. Those are only two of their many achievements.

It's great that the Pontoon Lions have seen fit to honor their hard work. It is time someone recognized the Lions for their hard work, first in selecting a winner each year and then for setting up the annual awards dinner, which requires attention to hundreds of details.

The awards dinner is an enjoyable event. It is a shame that more people cannot attend. The size of the Lions Den II limits the number who can attend to 30 persons each year. Invitations are prized. Those present cannot smoke, because the circulation system will not permit it. That didn't hurt anyone at all, so it can't be considered a drawback.

We hope a continuous community awards program will continue, and possibly even expand. It is a good program. Other clubs may want to consider similar functions in other areas.

All in all, the Press-Record's pick for the Best Club Function of the Year Award may have the envelope, please — in the community awards banquet. Congratulations to all the winners.

A complete all-day program for the opening of the Wilson Park swimming pool and the official opening of the park in its entirety on Saturday, June 25, has been prepared and announced by Superintendent Ralph Frohardt. While many will wish to enjoy the coolness of the pool during the day, there will be many other forms of amusement to entertain those not so inclined. Baseball, tennis and other athletic contests will be offered, according to the program. The swimming pool has been put into very good condition having had many tons of sand scattered around the edges for the children to enjoy. The bottom of the pool has been cleared of rocks and a sand bottom will greet the bathers.

The proposed Mitchell public water district won approval at a hearing conducted Friday in the county court at Edwardsville by Judge Michael M. Kinney. A special election on the proposal will be held Saturday, Aug. 13, at the Mitchell fire hall. Construction cost for the project was estimated at $475,000 by Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab, civil engineers. If approved by the voters, the district will supply more than 800 users now, and by 1965, the number is expected to be 1400. The public hearing in county court was held after 225 residents of the proposed district signed petitions which were submitted to the court.

State Senator Sam M. Vadala, (D) Edwardsville, announced Friday that the Illinois Senate that day adopted legislation which virtually removes the personal property tax from individuals, farmers and small businesses in Illinois. Vadala commented, "When the legislature passes this law, probably 70 percent of all individuals in the state will no longer have to pay a cent of personal property tax." Vadala also co-sponsored the legislation drafted by the special committee. He told the Press-Record jubilantly, "It was a great day for the Illinois Senate and a great day for Illinois citizens."

Justice fast, not hunger striking

To the Editor:

It is strange, considering all the talk lately about religion, morals, prayer in the schools and other so-called religious issues, that no one seems able to comprehend the serious spiritual discipline of fasting. All seem ready to condemn the fasters in Springfield as hunger strikers. There is no comparison. Hunger strikers are usually persons with no control over their daily lives, such as prisoners who have brought God for a miracle. The miracle occurred and the people of Israel were spared.

A fast is not a hunger strike. It is a spiritual exercise, as is prayer. Fasting was the method used by Esther and her people to strengthen her as she brought God for a miracle. The miracle occurred and the people of Israel were spared.

The first act of Jesus Christ's ministry was a fast for 40 days and nights in the wilderness. St. Paul fasted often. The Biblical book of Isaiah describes an acceptable fast to God as one "to undo the heavy burdens, to let the oppressed go free."

It is appalling to discover the lack of knowledge about religious fasting. The history of religious people is a history of miracles which have come to those who gave what they had for the common good.

David slew Goliath with a pebble. A small watermelon fed 5,000. Water became the best wine. Esther interceded for her people for a timely escape. Sarah bore a child in old age. The list goes on.

Moving the Illinois Legislature may be somewhat more difficult, but we are the people who believe in these miracles. Where is our miracle faith in the journey for equal rights? It rests in our hearts, in the discipline of prayer, in the discipline of fasting, in the discipline of prayer, in the discipline of prayer.

Where is our miracle faith in the journey for equal rights? It rests in our hearts, in the discipline of prayer, in the discipline of fasting, in the discipline of prayer, in the discipline of prayer. The people who are fasting in Springfield have chosen to place themselves to the test of a spiritual discipline to demonstrate the depth of women's hunger for justice. They are beseeching God for a miracle, praying that eyes will be opened, hardened hearts softened, and a guide set forth for all. That justice will prevail; indeed, that the Equal Rights Amendment will be ratified.

They have received the blessing and support of the Religious Community of E.R.A., a national organization of over 400 denominations and faith groups.

Because of the misinformation given by Colleen Narvaez, perhaps we need to read Article V of the U.S. Constitution which sets down the amending process. Whenever a supermajority is called for by the United States Constitution, it is clearly identified as such: two-thirds of both Houses of Congress; three-fourths of the states. When a simple majority suffices, no specification is mentioned. Our founders made it difficult to amend the Constitution, but they did not intend for it to be impossible.

Since the Constitution was adopted in 1789 (by majority votes in state legislatures) over 10,000 amendments have been proposed. Of these, only 33 have been ratified by both Houses of Congress and only 26 have become amendments to the Constitution.

In the long struggle for the Equal Rights Amendment which began in 1923, the changing of the rules came late in the game. The current two-thirds rule in Illinois was adopted in 1979. Speaker of the House George Ryan has refused to adopt rules for the 1981-82 session, blocking the adoption of a majority rule for ratification of amendments to the U.S. Constitution; rather he has ruled that the old rules be used, knowing that they require another supermajority to amend.

Because of these machinations against justice and the American way, the Illinois Capitol has been chosen as the site of the Fast for Justice. It is time for the media to set the record straight. Enlighten the public, explain the technique of the fast, and let a hunger strike not be a hunger strike.

Tide may be turning against drug abuse

To the Editor:

The famous French saying, "the more things change, the more they stay the same," is not altogether true in this country. Three years ago, the official attitude concerning the dangers of marijuana smoking was hard to find. Some legislators were in favor of legalizing the drug's use; others ignored it; and still others accepted the propaganda put out by the well-financed lobby seeking acceptance of "pot" as a recreational drug more stimulating than harmful.

Encouraging this benign attitude was a steady flow of rock music, books, pamphlets, magazines, news stories, radio and TV shows, and Hollywood films.

Nearly 15 years of government and privately-financed research had produced solid evidence that marijuana is a "very dangerous drug," particularly for adolescents.

But the evidence, even when offered to congressional committees, was generally ignored, downplayed or scoffed at. Concerned parents who were aware of the hazards of "pot," having seen the effects on their children, had to give up the fight. They were aware of the hazards of "pot," having seen the effects on their children, had to give up the fight. They were aware of the hazards of "pot," having seen the effects on their children, had to give up the fight.

They organized groups, receiving medical and legal advice on how they could best fight what was recognized by the National Institute of Drug Abuse as an epidemic among the young people of America.

One such group, the National Federation of Parents for a Drug-Free Youth, started in a mother's kitchen with a few extra dollars from the family food budget. Today, NFPP is in communication with thousands of parent groups in all 50 states.

There are numerous volunteer organizations like NFPP, all dedicated to fighting drug abuse at every level.

Two years ago, they were struggling to awaken the public to a menace which statistics indicated that more than four million high school seniors were regular marijuana smokers.

These parents had long been looking to Washington for leadership and support. In President and Mrs. Reagan, they found it.

Soon after he took office, the president spoke out, saying, "The problem of drug abuse is one that reaches deeply into American society. We need to mobilize our religious, educational and fraternal groups in a national educational program against drug abuse."

Recently, the first lady chaired a White House briefing hosted by Action, the national volunteer agency, on how best to attack drug problems through corporate volunteerism.

"Attack" is the active word because by word and deed — the president and

Mrs. Reagan have quietly, but firmly, provided a rallying point of national leadership which has subtly, without fanfare or even notice, brought a change in public attitude toward the use of marijuana.

The former belief that nothing can be done about it is no longer prevalent. Mrs. Reagan's first-hand activities at drug prevention centers discussing the problem with young people have been widely reported. New information on the dangers of marijuana is gaining broader acceptance in the press.

Anti-drug films are appearing on television networks, question-and-answer programs are heard on the radio. Most importantly, there is a slowly-growing perception among young people that "pot" is not cool, but bad news; the statistics are beginning to show a downward trend in its use.

Many factors are involved and no one has singled out the president and the first lady and said it's through their leadership that the tide has begun to turn on this national problem.

But those who have been working in this cause know that support from the White House has meant, that it has helped greatly to bring a change in direction. At the kind of change every thinking American can endorse.

Harassment borders on bloodshed to neighbor

To the Editor:

I hear talk about the crime victim lately and our slow-moving judicial system. Let me give you a first-hand example.

A house is rented — a couple upstairs, a couple (unmarried) downstairs. The man upstairs works 10 hours a day, seven days a week, has been on the same job 14 years come this October, his wife is an Illinois state licensed beautician.

The man downstairs doesn't work, drinks, takes drugs, sleeps until noon and doesn't like it if I run the sweeper or draw bath water before that time.

The man downstairs is presently on six months of court supervision for disorderly conduct, loud music, etc.

The man upstairs is epileptic. He never misses a day of work. He is under a doctor's care for seizures. He needs rest.

The man downstairs doesn't care. Our car has been vandalized numerous times. The man downstairs has been in the basement, turns off our

The police have been given as much as Jerry Wilson of the detective division. The situation is like a time bomb — very explosive.

They (the authorities) will wait until there is bloodshed, then act.

You and I, as taxpayers, are supporting him through Illinois Public Aid.

At the last rescheduled court appearance, the assistant city attorney, Casper Nigrohosian, lied to me. He told me it was set for one date. I double-checked. He was wrong.

No one can prove anything. No one cares to get involved. This is leading up to violent crime perhaps. Tempers are high, nerves on edge. (Excuse my hand-writing.) I'm interested to see if you'll pass the buck too or put this in file No. 13. Do you care? Enough to get press coverage or is it "not your problem." He's in the

LAW ABIDING CITIZEN
EDITOR'S NOTE: The writer gave her name, address and telephone number, presumably for publication, but we are omitting it in hopes this letter will not cause further hostilities because we care.

It is difficult for the newspapers, as for the courts, to stop trouble before it happens. We care, but in a democracy, we cannot infringe upon another person's rights — cannot often stop future violence before it happens.

We can only hope that if the neighbor is found guilty of the pending disorderly charges against him, the courts will examine the statements of the upstairs neighbor carefully before deciding whether the "man upstairs" should be incarcerated or should be turned loose again to potentially infringe upon the rights of others.

Retirement worth remembering

To the Editor:

I would just like to take this opportunity to thank the person responsible for the prompt action which resulted in the publishing of the news of our annual Retirement Banquet.

This is important for two reasons — one, the item was still fresh, and two, ordinary working people receive a chance to share in the limelight.

A retirement is a special occasion, not only because it is the end of a term of employment, but because it is a new beginning of what are hopefully the best years of our lives. Retirement should be also be acknowledged as a superb accomplishment, a fresh new beginning of longevity.

Celebrating and sharing this event should enhance it. 160-72 Taylor for the Equal Rights (male-female) Rights Amendment and a pat on the back. We were at the Post Fifth majority 107-73. The Office took with fervor toward that day, and I want to thank you again for helping us to celebrate its arrival.

News notes

State's Attorney Don Weber's recent move to have Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson replaced in the trial of a Collinsville teacher will not be pressed, Weber said Tuesday, commenting that Weber has partly changed his mind.

Karen Fuller and Tim Pabst have been chosen to attend the 15th annual high school speech communication workshop through July 2 at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

A clean-election proposal passed Tuesday by the Illinois Senate calls for votes in a random 5 percent of Chicago polling places and in Madison, St. Clair and Cook counties precincts to be automatically reballeted after elections. There would be no major costs or problems in doing this, County Clerk Evelyn Bowles believes.

Arrest tickets are to be issued starting in July to pet owners who chronically ignore Madison County's dog leash law.

The Illinois Commerce Commission will conduct a hearing at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 28, in the Granite City Township Hall on proposed Illinois Power Co. rate increases.

Major steelworkers and United Steelworkers will begin talks soon on possible changes in pay and benefits for the 1980-83 contract. Any changes would be effective Aug. 1 for the final 12 months of the contract. Monday it will cut the compensation of 27,000 management and salaried employees. Republic Steel said its second-quarter loss will be much larger than its $45 million first-quarter deficit.

La Boheme will open the Midland Repertory Playhouse this summer season tomorrow and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at The Barn, five miles north of St. Steel Channel 5. The Alton-based group has been presenting full-scale operatic productions in English for 13 years.

The third annual telethon to aid the United Negro College Fund is set for 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday on TV Channel 5. Those featured include Frank Sinatra, Bill Cosby and Sammy Davis Jr.

The Dowry Syndrome Association of Southwestern Illinois is holding a mothers' and children's picnic today at the Russ Porter residence in Edwardsville.

Students who will be attending STUE for the first time this fall will attend orientation sessions. One-day meetings have been scheduled for transfer students June 28 and 30, July 1 and 2.

Two sessions for incoming freshmen will begin July 7: one for students entering in August 2, 4 and 6. Two sessions for incoming freshmen will begin July 7: one for students entering in August 2, 4 and 6.

Adversity, disease does not stop GC resident with graduation

College students are always proud, and perhaps a bit relieved, on graduation day, but when Anna Stomum graduated June 8 from Chicago's Mundelein Catholic College for Girls with a bachelor's degree in art it was more than the average graduate's pride that she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob (Mary) Stomum, 4006 North St., felt.

Miss Stomum is more than the average 22-year-old "fresh-out-of-college graduate" seeking a job in a big city. On nearly every count, her life is much more difficult and certainly more frustrating. She suffers from a rare disease called Friedrich's Ataxia, which attacks the brain cells that control coordination of the arms and legs. Since 1960, Miss Stomum has been confined to a wheelchair.

On April 17, 1980, Miss Stomum underwent an 8 1/2 hour operation that took a team of 15 doctors to perform. The doctors went through her side by removing a rib and dislocating a shoulder. Eye screws were put into her spine, which at the time had an 85 degree curvature causing severe internal pressure. Wire was placed through the screws to hold her spine rigid. Two weeks later, the surgeons went down the back of her spine and wired special metal rods on each side. It took them 5 1/2 hours to perform the second operation.

While both operations were successful, the screws and wires placed in her spine added about 17 pounds of weight to her body, which caused her to lose what mobility she had. Prior to the surgery, she had walked with braces on her legs and a walker.

Doctors in Chicago are planning to fit her with braces and she should be able to use a walker again soon, said Mrs. Stomum.

Her parents have been very supportive of her, but unfortunately were not able to attend their daughter's college graduation ceremony. They were on their way to Chicago when her father suffered a stroke near Joliet. According to Mrs. Stomum, he is recuperating at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center after doctors successfully completed surgery.

Through all of this, Miss Stomum has remained cheerful and dedicated to her profession. She lives in a Chicago apartment with another young woman and has relatively few problems in the city. "She's been up there five years now. She loves it," Mrs. Stomum said.

Interested in all aspects of art, Miss Stomum is busy searching for a job in the city.

The Stomum's have some of their daughters work in their home, but she has painted some modern art work "which I don't understand," Mrs. Stomum said and laughed.

In addition to her artwork, Miss Stomum keeps busy doing a bit of crusading. She went to Washington D.C. along with other handicapped people to protest the Reagan Administration's efforts to cut social security and social security insurance benefits for the disabled.

In a letter to the Press-Record, the Stomum's thanked all those who sent cards of well wishes and encouragement to Anna. Mrs. Stomum wrote: "Parents are always proud of any of their children that graduate from high school and even more so from college, but my wife and I are extremely proud of our daughter, Anna, under her conditions."

Indeed, Bob and Mary Stomum have special reasons to be more proud than most parents.

Competition in workman 'comp' bids

State law now requires insurance companies to compete in the area of worker compensation insurance. Lower rates are being predicted.

"This legislation, passed 180-0 by the House, June 18, will help lower the cost of compensation insurance by five to eight percentage points within a couple of months after it becomes fully effective in January 1983," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

"This comes only one week after Attorney General Ty Fahner and I announced that Illinois employers will save $80 million to $90 million through an out-of-court settlement on worker compensation rates. These two actions should amount to worker compensation rate reductions totaling up to 16 percent by next year."

"The legislature is to be congratulated for taking this action to significantly lower the cost of insurance for Illinois businesses while at the same time not affecting the benefits that workers injured on the job will be able to collect."

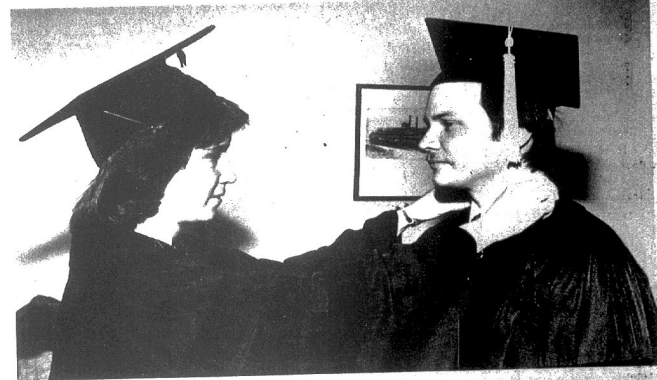

"What we are telling business and labor through these actions is that Illinois is a good place to work and live. The measure passed the state with only one dissenting vote."

MRS. HALL DOCTORATE RECEIVES
John Kathryn Hall of Granite City is one of seven graduates who received the doctor of education degree at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during commencement ceremonies, Friday, June 18.

Mrs. Hall, the former Jean Dorries of Harrisburg, is a remedial reading teacher in Logan School in Granite City. She maintained a straight A average at the doctoral level in earning the degree in the instructional process. Her dissertation is a study of the relationship between achievement and motivation in fourth graders.

A 30-year resident of Granite City, Mrs. Hall is a graduate of Edville High School and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, with a bachelor of science degree in history and a master of science degree in education. She earned a specialist's certificate in education at SIUE before completing the doctoral degree.

She is married to Gilbert E. Hall of Granite City.

AIR FORCE CAREER. Tish Nihill of Wheaton helps dental classmate Bruce Rotter (right) of Granite City with his collar before the commencement of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine. Dr. Nihill, selected as the ideal dental student by the American College of Dentists, will begin a general practice residency in Chicago. Dr. Rotter will begin his general practice residency with the U.S. Air Force in Omaha.

Fair premium books now available

Illinois State Fair Premium Books now are available through the Entry Department of the state agriculture department's fair division.

These books list entrance requirements, prizes available, contest dates and judging details for all fair competitions.

Junior Department books can be obtained through local extension offices. Young people, 12 to 21 years old, should look into junior competitions ranging from swine breeding to flower arranging. Deadline for entering these contests is July 9.

The majority of General Department entries are due July 15 with exceptions listed in the now available General Premium Book. General categories include art, flower and textile shows, cooking competitions and other activities such as stamp collecting which are completed before the fair begins.

The Livestock Premium book lists rules and regulations for the most popular contests at the fair. Entries for general livestock are due July 1 and poultry petitioning closes July 10. People interested in any of the livestock or general competitions can write for more information or for premium books to P.O. Box 576, Entry Department, State Fair, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

"Where Illinois Gets Together," this year's State Fair runs Aug. 5 through 15 at the fairgrounds in Springfield.

LOOT STORE WINDOW
Two youths broke a display window at 1:55 a.m. Tuesday at Hudson's jewelry store, 19th and State streets, and fled with gold bracelets valued at a total of $150. One was 5-8 tall and heavy-set and the other was 5-7 and thin.

TRESPASSING ARRESTS
IN KIRKPATRICK AREA
Glendal F. "Frankie" Jackson, 22, of 3039 Myrtle Ave., was arrested at 3:20 a.m. Tuesday in the 4800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes on charges of disorderly conduct, trespassing and permitting a minor to violate the curfew law.

A Mitchell boy, 16, with him was arrested for disorderly conduct and trespassing. Police had checked the area after being told that two persons were knocking on various apartment doors. Both suspects ran and were caught, officers alleged.

State bibliography published

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) Director Peter B. Fox announced the publication of an Energy Conservation Bibliography for commercial and industrial application.

Produced by the Department's Community Energy Conservation Program, the bibliography lists a series of 20 ALIENS HELD IN VENICE THIS MONTH

The Venice police department, a regional custodial agency for the federal immigration and naturalization service, is averaging about 15 to 20 illegal-presence suspects a month.

Its 20th suspected illegal alien of June is Roberto Martinez-Aranda, 31, a resident of St. Louis June 17.

publications covering such topics as energy auditing for bakeries, grocery stores, hotels and motels, restaurants, warehouses and various other commercial and industrial businesses.

Other topics include boiler efficiency, retrofit programs and financing opportunities.

Ranging from very fundamental to moderately technical, the manuals identified within the bibliography are available at no cost to interested firms.

According to Fox, "The development of this list of practical sources of energy conservation information is one more element of Illinois, Inc., the Governor's effort to assist in the retention of Illinois businesses and the attraction of new commercial and industrial firms to the state."

To receive a copy of the bibliography, contact either the Community Energy Conservation Program, 225 West Adams Street, Springfield, Ill. 62706, or call DCCA's toll-free business hotline at 1-800-252-2929.

$15,000 BOND FOR AGGRAVATED BATTERY
John Lemon, 44, Knobloch, Mo., was arrested during the weekend for aggravated battery, having allegedly beaten a Wilson Park security guard near the park swimming pool.

Gary Rainwater, 2401 Wilson Ave., incinerators to the nose and mouth and several of his teeth were loosened. Lemon was arraigned here Monday afternoon before Circuit Judge George Moran, who set his bond at $15,000.

FURNISHINGS GONE
A Granite City woman, Jo Ann Lucas, told Collinsville police early this week that some items she had been storing at an apartment building on Lafayette Court had been stolen. The resident who was storing the items was found to have moved to Highland, she said. Items taken included a 27-inch color TV, a microwave oven, pictures, a bed comforter and miscellaneous dishes and decorative flowers.

TRESPASS ARRESTS
Tommie L. Sanders, 20, of 2810 Pershing was charged with trespassing last week in the 4800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. A boy, 15, also was arrested for trespassing.

Third Lincoln premieres at Petersburg

For children and adults alike, the Lincoln-related Great American People Show has once again created an original play about America. "Even We Here," a fast-paced special history of the 20th Century, was given its world premiere by the GAPS, Saturday.
Beginning with President Wilson's declaration of war in 1917, the play continues through the roaring 1920s, the depression of the 1930s, World War II, the civil rights movement and Neil Armstrong's "giant step for mankind" in 1969 on the moon.
The play also follows these events closely with period music. The audience can march with the soldiers to Tippecanoe, swing to the big band sounds of the 1940s, and rock to Elvis Presley and the Beatles.
All three plays are located in the Kelo Hollow Theater at New Salem State Park 20 miles northwest of Springfield on Highway 97. Performances run nightly at 8 except Mondays, June 19-Aug. 21.
Tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for senior citizens and students. Children under six are free.
Information about group rates and season tickets is available from the Great American People Show at P.O. Box 401, Petersburg, Ill. 62675 (217-432-7755).
The plays will be given on an alternating basis.

Pontoon Lions honor 'those who serve' the village

HONORING THE DESERVING. Members of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club honor those who most helped the village and the club grow and improve during the past year and in previous years during the annual community awards dinner Monday night.

GC man invents computer language Public hearing July 28 on IP rate hike plans

By NANCY WEIL of the Press-Record
David Hudson didn't anticipate creating a new language for small business computers when he started his doctoral work in physics at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., but that is exactly what happened.

The 28-year-old Granite City resident said he was attempting to make his work easier when he started to develop a computer language in 1978. The result, however, has turned into a simplified system that is universally acceptable.

"Computer-language is a set of tools for a specific task that you would want the computer to perform. You tell the computer what you want it to do," Hudson said.

The language Hudson has created, called First is Fast, can work 70 times faster than previously developed languages. Presently, the language is used mostly in scientific and research settings. It allows its user to turn the equipment on, run experiments and collect and analyze data. "It's good for anything," Hudson said.

While other computer languages can work on only a "very low level to specified tasks," Hudson's system utilizes a "hierarchical pyramid" of commands which can be built upon.

"You're never dealing with more than a conceptual chunk at a time. Computer specialists say you can only comprehend about five seconds worth (or what can be read in that span)," Hudson said. The more complicated a task becomes with a computer, the less a person is able to remember at once.

"Everything is small (with Fast is First), in little chunks," he said.

The "alphabet" used is comparable to Basic or Pascal computer language systems, and was developed from an idea called Forth, originated by Charles Moore in 1959.

Although Fast is First can be "applied to many, many computer systems," Hudson has personally applied it only to physics in his research on gold fish cone cells, which are contained in the eye.

"The cells are very small and difficult to measure. The images are very noisy and recording them is a laborious technique." The idea, Hudson said, is to learn as much as possible about eyes. Eventually the information could be applied to work with human eyes.

Fast is First can be used with Apple and IBM personal computers, Hudson said.

Hudson has also developed a system that uses a camera lens to take convert images into numerical representation. This technique is used with Apple and IBM personal computers, he said.

"There are a number of reasons why one might want an image in a computer recorded in this form," Hudson said.

The programmer can analyze information through the image system and make meaningful evaluations from the data. Plus, he said, the system is inexpensive, compared to present methods of transferring images into numerical representation.

He compared the camera lens system to newspaper wire services which transmit photographs through a numerical code.

While the camera lens system's main benefit is its low comparative cost, the language system is better than others because of its speed and efficiency in finding mistakes, he said.

"We think it's the best,"

Oddly enough, Hudson didn't have to create the system in order to conduct his research. "It just turned out to make my work easier."

The Illinois Commerce Commission will hold a public hearing in Granite City July 28 on a request by Illinois Power Co. for further hikes in electric and gas rates, William Steiner of the Madison Concerned Citizens' Organization was informed Tuesday.

Additional details on IP's rate hike request and the reasons for it appear on page 12 of today's issue.

Steiner said he was notified by Rose M. Claggett, chief clerk of the ICC, by letter Tuesday that the examiner assigned to the IP request has granted the Madison Concerned Citizens' motion for a local hearing.

The letter noted that statements from the public will be taken during a hearing which will begin at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 28, in the Granite City Township Hall, 2068 Delmar Ave.

Steiner noted that his group is generally opposed to the increases, particularly in the amounts sought, and has invited Tim Early of the Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG), Edwardsville, to join with the local group in opposing the hike requests.

Early addressed the Madison Concerned Citizens' Monday night in Madison, telling approximately 50 persons in the audience that research done by his group indicates the hikes will have a greater effect on the general public than the 9.9 percent electric hike and nearly 10 percent higher gas rates, which the company says it seeks.

Steiner said his group will be releasing details of IPIRG's studies and other information as the date for the public hearing in Granite City nears.

ICC hearing on energy

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services filed testimony before the Illinois Commerce Commission, including independent recommendations on how best to deal with an excess capacity of energy by Central Illinois Public Service Company.

The testimony was prepared by an outside consultant, Energy Consulting Group, which was retained by the Governor's Office to conduct an independent evaluation of the reserve margin of CIPS.

"The question of who will pay for excessive generating capacity that Illinois' utilities are building may be the most pressing regulatory question facing ratepayers and stockholders in the 90's," GOC's Director Alvin K. Grandys said.

"Recognizing that CIPS' pending rate request is the first major case that rests on the questions of excess capacity and who should pay its costs, GOC's sought an outside consultant to find answers appropriate to Illinois."

Grandys said the testimony is being filed on behalf of GOC's client in this case, Southern Counties Action Movement, and is being co-sponsored by the Illinois Attorney General's Office.

The testimony concludes that all generating capacity associated with the Newton II power plant should be considered excess capacity for purposes of rate-making. Based upon this determination, two alternative ratemaking policies were recommended for the Commission's consideration.

The first recommendation proposes that Newton II be treated like a number of other potential energy efficient generating facilities, known as Qualifying Facilities, wishing to sell energy and capacity to CIPS. As such, Newton II would not be included in CIPS' rate base.

The first alternative allows CIPS to recover Newton II costs in the same manner as nonregulated electricity producers are compensated by CIPS for energy and capacity supplied to their grid.

The second recommendation allows CIPS to recover Newton II costs in the same manner as nonregulated electricity producers are compensated by CIPS for energy and capacity supplied to their grid.

"Both alternatives would provide clear market-oriented signals to CIPS management to eliminate the costs of excess capacity while reducing customer costs to levels more commensurate with customer benefits," Grandys said.

New voters' cards to be issued soon

Evelyn Bowles, Madison County Clerk, announced that registered voters in many of the areas of Madison County will be receiving new Voters' Certificates of Registration, which define the new Congressional, Legislative, Representative and County Board Districts in which voters will be qualified to vote during the next 10 years.

The necessity for issuing new cards is due to the redistricting mandated by the 1980 census.

New cards will not be mailed to voters in municipalities which will be re-describing their Ward lines, until after the new lines are drawn. This is expected to be completed by late summer.

Persons who have moved, changed their name, or for some other reason do not receive a card should contact the County Clerk's Office either by phone or letter.

RINGS, CASH TAKEN
A burglar took three wristwatches, two pistols, two diamond rings, another jewelry item and $200 after breaking down glass at the William Knucha home, 1247 Second St., Madison, early this week.

BATTERY COMPLAINT
Ronald P. Patterson, 36, of 2820 Warren Ave. was arrested for battery after Suzanne Patterson was struck repeatedly at the Warren address. He was released on a notice to appear in court.

Fireworks are illegal fire marshal reminds

Last year, at least one death is known to have been caused by fireworks in Illinois. This identifiable fatality was caused by a home-made firecracker to a 16-year-old Oak Park boy. Others were injured in the same incident.

"Fireworks are illegal — and they're dangerous," State Fire Marshal Jack H. Carter points out, "and such fireworks can cause fires and explosions, too."

Carter estimates fireworks injure more than 250 people in Illinois every Independence Day. Most casualties are caused to and by people who bought them illegally.

"The law is a lot stricter than most people realize," Carter said, "all fireworks, including firecrackers and Roman candles, are illegal in Illinois without a permit for a public display. To get a permit, three adults must post $1000 bond, provide liability insurance protection and have local authorities inspect the site where the applicants will set off the fireworks."

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), there has been an increase in the number of fireworks-related injuries during the national holiday "to an all-time high of 11,400 injuries in 1981. This even exceeded the 11,100 injuries which occurred in the Bicentennial year when the use of fireworks was at its peak."

In addition, CPSC points out, fires caused by fireworks increased 17 percent for the years 1977 to 1980.

Ventilators recalled

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, announced that a voluntary recall of 11,500 roof-mounted, motor-powered attic ventilators is being made by Sears, Roebuck and Co., in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

"The ventilators are being recalled because the motors may overheat and cause roof-top fires," Kempiners said.

The recall covers Emerson Electric Company Model No. 758-648360. The identification plate is on the back of the motor. The light-gray molded polyvinyl ventilating hoods were sold nationwide through Sears retail stores and catalog sales in 1980 and 1981 for approximately $70. Owners of the ventilators should discontinue using them and contact Emerson Electric Company on their toll-free number: 1-800-325-4130. Missouri residents may call collect at 314-595-2297. A serviceman will come to the consumer's home and replace the motor of the ventilator free of charge.

Anyone wishing additional information may contact CPSC's toll-free Safety Hotline at 800-638-6326.

CRASH INJURES TWO AT NAMEOKI-MADISON Police Sgt. Dennis R. Joyce, 39, driving south on Nameoki Road during rain during the weekend, and Debbie Langston, 18, of 519 Jefferson Ave., Venice, were injured in a collision and taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Miss Langston was a passenger in the northbound auto of Randall Parks, 25, of 2000 Elm Ave., who made a left turn toward Madison Avenue. Parks was charged with improper brakes and failure to yield the right-of-way. There was damage to the right side of his auto and the front of the patrol car; both vehicles were towed away.

ARRESTED FOR FIGHT After a fight at 2401 Washington Ave. during the weekend, William Carpenter, 25, of 1536 Third St., Madison, and Kende W. Mitchell, 25, of 1636 Princeton Ave. were charged with disorderly conduct. Each was released on $52 bail.

Nameoki resurfacing, Broadway underpass bids opened Friday

The Illinois Department of Transportation will receive bids tomorrow on four Quad-City area road projects, including the resurfacing of Nameoki Road (Route 200), between Route 102 (Edwardsville Road) and Pontoon Road in Granite City.

IDOT also will receive bids on constructing a deep well drainage system, repairing sewers and resurfacing a small area of Route 3 at the Broadway underpass under the Illinois Central Gulf, Norfolk & Western and Conrail railroad tracks in Venice.

Resurfacing of 7.35 miles of Route 111 between Pontoon Beach and Rozama also is among projects for which bids will be received tomorrow, as is a plan for 1.18 miles of resurfacing on Collinsville Road at two locations — from Sand Prairie Lane (Cahokia Mounds) to Black Lane (State Park Place) and from west of Route 157 to Meigs Drive in Collinsville.

The local projects are among statewide projects with a total estimated value of $75 million for which bids will be opened tomorrow. Each bid then will be studied and discussions conducted with the apparent low bidder before contracts for the work will be awarded.

New business deals with two-way radios

By ANGELA GRUPAS of the Press-Record

Mid Com Electronics, Inc., 2550 Washington Ave., opened to aid Quad-City residents in the servicing of two-way radios and communicating devices.

The new company will be servicing such items as police radios, air units, walkie-talkies, pagers and encoders. It was noted that the repair service also will be installing new communication units and relocating previous units.

"We are mostly devoted to service, but we also sell antennas, lightning protection systems and accessories to two-way radios," commented Stephen Toussaint, shop foreman.

Much of the work done will be of industrial use. Mid Com already is in charge of the city storm warning system in Wentzville, Mo.

This is the third Mid Com Electronics servicing company in the area. Ham and all Motorola products are serviced at the Brentwood, Mo., business. The Wentzville, Mo., shop also is authorized for Motorola servicing. Ham equipment can also be purchased at the Brentwood business. All other brands of communicating devices will be serviced at the various Mid Com business locations.

Licensed radio technicians handle the workload, so all equipment is repaired to FCC (Federal Communications Commission) specifications. "Time and misusage cause radios to malfunction and technicians at Mid Com can repair them to the correct power output frequency," a shop modification, stated Toussaint. It also was noted that if radios are not in good operating order the user can be fined, so it is important to keep electronic equipment serviced.

Various businesses, such as the police departments, hospitals, ambulance services and larger industries, all need repair work done on their communication systems. "Farmers have a need for servicing on their business band FM communication systems," Toussaint added.

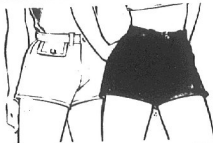

Service that is not done at Mid Com at the Granite City shop will be sent to the other servicing departments for the patrons' convenience and he concluded.

'Lifeline' offers more security for the elderly

St. Elizabeth Medical Center now offers a personal emergency response system called Lifeline.

The system consists of a easily-installed transmitter unit that connects to the telephone system in the subscriber's home. If assistance is needed, the disabled person presses the "help" button located on the unit itself or on a wireless device, about the size of a transistor radio, that can be clipped to a belt or carried in a pocket.

The transmitter sends a signal to St. Elizabeth's where Medical Center personnel immediately call the subscriber back to find out what the problem is. Someone will then be sent to the subscriber's home to administer aid.

If the subscriber is unable to answer the telephone, Medical Center personnel immediately call the subscriber back to find out what the problem is. Someone will then be sent to the subscriber's home to administer aid.

If the subscriber is unable to answer the telephone, Medical Center personnel contact "responders," friends, neighbors, or relatives who have agreed to be available to go to the subscriber's home if there is an emergency. In the event that none of the responders can be reached, the medical center will call the police or send an ambulance to the home.

When the responder arrives at the subscriber's home, he or she presses the "reset" button on the transmitter unit to notify the medical center that help has arrived.

The home unit has an optional timing device that must be reset twice a day. If the subscriber is unable to reset it, the medical center is automatically alerted. The timing device can be turned off when the subscriber plans to be away from home.

The Lifeline system was invented in 1976 by Dr. Andrew Diner, a Boston University professor and a specialist in gerontology and rehabilitation. Dr. Diner was convinced that disabled and elderly people prefer to be independent. He believed that rapid telephone access to health care facilities would make it possible for more people to continue living at home, instead of being placed in nursing homes.

According to the results of a three-year study of the Lifeline system, conducted by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the program not only improves the quality of life for elderly persons, it also reduces the cost of long term care. For example, in one of the three target groups studied, it was found that a $1 investment in Lifeline was estimated to result in a net saving of more than $7 in long-term care costs.

The Lifeline equipment in use at St. Elizabeth Medical Center was donated by the Granite City Disabled American Veterans organization.

The cost of the service is $40 per month. More information about the Lifeline program is available from Ralph Hausmann, director of social work at 798-3018.

Andres heads Bulk Service office

George Andres, 36, assumed new duties Monday as general manager of Bulk Services in Granite City. Andres had been with the Tri-City Regional Port District and its Foreign Trade Zone 31 before leaving to become general manager of the Mid-South Terminals Corporation in Memphis, Tenn.

Under his new duties, Andres is responsible for the operation of both Bulk Service Granite City river terminals and a river terminal in Mound City.

Andres had been in charge of the port's development planning for two years as a consultant and after that, continued to work in development.

A registered professional engineer, Andres received his engineering degree from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He described his first day as "pretty hectic," but said that because he is so familiar with the operation and its employees, he did not experience any problems on the job.

THOMAS BULL, graduated from Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga. He is the son of Mrs. Harriet Bull of Granite City, and the late John Bull, and is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Edwards, also of Granite City. A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, with a degree in music, he is now stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. He and his wife, Beverly, have a 6-month old daughter, Karen.

2 houses burn

Two adjacent dwellings in Eagle Park, located at 209 and 207 Allen St., were virtually demolished in a fire June 11, according to Ed Salmond, Venice Township highway commissioner.

Five people were occupying the Andy Prowell residence at 209 Allen St., which was 90 percent destroyed. No one was living in the second house, which burned to the ground.

Salmond, a trustee of the Eagle Park Fire Protection District, said four regular firemen from the Eagle Park Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the blaze, helped by eight teenage youths. Assistance also was provided by the Madison Fire Department.

The fire apparently started in the vacant property and spread to the Prowell home, Salmond said. Madison County sheriff's deputies were investigating the possibility the initial blaze may have been set, he added.

DRUNK DRIVER CHARGE
Phillip Ray Holman, 35, St. Louis, was arrested by Venice police during the weekend near the McKinley Bridge, where it is alleged his auto was weaving. He was held on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and transporting alcohol.

Fire causes $34,975 loss

The Granite City Fire Department answered 44 calls during May and reported a total loss of $34,975 in fire damage to area buildings and contents, according to the monthly report submitted to the Granite City Council Tuesday night by Fire Chief Don Parente.

The loss to buildings last month has been estimated at $21,125. Fire destroyed an additional $13,350 to building contents. The estimated loss to motor vehicles was $500. The sources of calls last month were: buildings, 11; motor vehicles, five; rubbish and weed fires, seven; inhalator and rescue, nine; false alarms, seven; and others, five.

PURSE STOLEN

Tina Jones, 2329 Paul Ave., reported last week the theft of her purse, containing a wallet, lighter and other miscellaneous items, valued at $25, from a vehicle parked outside Pantera's Pizza, 1535 Johnson Road.

AUTO-BIKE MISHAP
The southbound auto of Kelly R. Watson, 18, of 3729 Fair Oaks Drive last week bumped a bicycle ridden by Douglas J. Jones, 1335 Clark Ave., on Terrace Lane near Clark.

FOUR CHARGES FILED

After police investigated a report of two persons on the roof of a commercial building at 3075 Nameoki Road early this week, Brian K. Hayes, 17, of No. 4 Petula and Eric W. Maass, 17, of 3235 Woodlawn Ave. were charged with disorderly conduct and violating the curfew law. Firemen inspected the roof and found no damage.

Secretaries install 1982-83 officers

Formal installation ceremonies were conducted at Charlie's Restaurant, for the newly elected officers of the Tri-Cities Chapter of Professional Secretaries International, followed by a dinner and business meeting.

Mrs. Mardi Yeary of Ralston Purina attended the meeting as a guest. Those to serve for the 1982-83 term include Mary Gain, president; Kathleen Smith, vice-president; Sharon Werner, recording secretary; Beverly Taylor, corresponding secretary and Billie Schuler, treasurer.

All of the outgoing committees gave their final reports and the winning team of the ongoing membership contest was announced. The contest was designed to invite prospective members to a regular business session and invite them to enroll in the chapter.

Beverly Taylor, Coleen Olson, Charlene Vunovic, CPS, Mary Gain and Ruth Houser were members of the winning team and each one received a gold clover charm.

The president announced there will be no July meeting and the next social-business session will be Thursday, August 5.

Anyone who is employed as a local secretary and would like to attend one of the meetings are advised to contact Barbara Bauer, membership chairman, at 345-5413 or 344-4287.

SIUE offices selected for awards

Two offices at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with responsibility for institutional relations have been selected to receive national recognition awards for 1982 from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE).

Dr. James R. Buck, director of the Office of Development and Public Affairs at SIUE, said he has received notification from CASE that the University Information Center and University News Services will receive Citation Awards at the CASE International Assembly in Toronto in July.

Buck said the University Information Center will be recognized for "excellence in community relations" in connection with the Children's Festival sponsored by the Center last October. Annette Mulvaney Graebe, associate professor of speech communication, coordinates the activities of the information center, which has responsibility for the university's calendar, speakers' bureau, tours and the University Ambassadors, who hosted more than 27,000 visitors to the campus last year.

University News Services will receive a citation for "excellence in public information" as a result of the university's efforts to convince the Illinois Board of Higher Education that the School of Dental Medicine should be continued, Buck said. News Services, which provides information about the university to all types of mass communications media, is under the direction of Sam L. Smith.

Illinois senior olympics slated for September

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the Illinois Senior Olympics will be held Sept. 24 through 26 in Springfield.

The weekend will feature more than 35 events for persons 55 and older. "No one is ever too old to get in shape and stay in shape. Physical fitness is something that everyone, regardless of age, can practice, promote and enjoy," Thompson said.

The Illinois Senior Olympics gives our elder citizens of Illinois the opportunity to compete with their peers. The Governor also said he proclaimed the three-day Olympics event as Illinois Senior Olympic Week in Illinois to mark the occasion.

Thirty-nine events ranging from swimming, track and field competition to table tennis and horseshoes will be offered during the Olympics.

sponsored by the Governor's Council on Health and Fitness, the Illinois Senior Olympics and the Springfield Recreation Department.

Participants in the Olympics must be 55 years old or older as of Sept. 24. They will be divided into five-year age brackets for competition.

Thompson added that a new toll-free number concerning the event for Illinois residents will be available Sept. 7. The number is 1-800-253-6555 and can be used between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

More information about the Senior Olympics and entry fees can be obtained from the Springfield Recreation Department, 1415 N. Grand Ave. East, Springfield, Ill. 62702, or by calling the Department at 217-785-2284.

New member seated on Venice Park Board

Earl W. Hogan, 221 Kerr St., Venice, has been appointed to the Venice Park Board during its regular June meeting. He was among five persons considered for the position created by the resignation of Commissioner John Gardner.

Hogan, seated on the board by a vote of three to one, is the vice president of the People's Organization to Benefit the Children of Venice and is employed in St. Louis by the American Car Foundry.

Hogan fills the vacancy until the April, 1983 election when a new commissioner will be elected to complete the remaining two years of Gardner's term. Gardner stepped down from the position because of a conflict with his college schedule.

At the reorganization meeting of the board, the Rev. John Henry Williams was elected unanimously as the new president of the board of commissioners.

He is pastor of the New Salem Baptist Church in Venice and is employed by the Metro-East Sanitary District.

The other members of the board are Barbara Harrell, Joan Silas and George Tyus Jr.

In other business, the board approved plans for the summer recreation program which includes instructional classes and recreation during the week. The 15 workers for the program are hired through the CETA program for the eight weeks.

Charles Collins is the director of the summer program, which includes arts and crafts, health, sewing, cooking and police work, in addition to swimming each Friday. More than 150 children have registered for the program. Williams has called a special meeting of the board for Monday, June 28, for the appointment of committees and unfinished business.

A public hearing on the park district budget will be conducted on a date yet to be announced.

Behind the Mill picnic June 27

A picnic is planned for Sunday, June 27, at the grounds of the Granite City Army Installation for former and present residents of "behind the mill" according to an announcement by the planning committee.

Those attending are to bring their tableware, picnic lunch and beverage as well as folding chairs, the committee added.

Serving will begin at 12 noon and during the afternoon music will be provided by The Rhythm Pipers. Games will be available and prizes awarded, it was noted.

OREGON RESOLVE

Congress on April 23, 1846, adopted a joint resolution to end the Anglo-American occupation of Oregon.

SIUC receives driver education grant

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale has been awarded a highway safety grant to fund Advanced Driver Education classes within Jackson County and in the SIUC service area. The Illinois Department of Transportation announced approval of the grant today.

According to Dr. James E. Aaron, Coordinator of the Safety Center at SIUC, the course will be offered to approximately 350 school bus drivers.

The Advanced Driver Education Program was designed by General Motors to teach school bus drivers those skills that should improve driver performance in situations involving an emergency or potential accident. Each class will last eight hours with two hours of classroom instruction and six hours of behind-the-wheel range instruction. There is no charge to students taking the class.

Total cost of the training will be approximately $77,469. A portion of this will come from federal funds made available to the State of Illinois under the Highway Safety Act. These funds are administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Traffic Safety.

A New Way of Caring LIFELINE

Lifeline is a unique service designed to help senior citizens and health-impaired persons live at home independently and with peace of mind. If you are concerned about a friend or relative who lives alone, consider giving them a Lifeline...it's a new way to care!

24-Hour Contact

The Lifeline subscriber has the ability to summon help at the touch of a button, even if they can't reach their telephone. This 24-hour immediate access to medical and social services is available for only $50.00 per month including installation and maintenance.

Emergency Assistance When Necessary

Lifeline is an easy-to-use communication system linked to the telephone and connected to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, Illinois. A lightweight transmitter is carried in a pocket or attached to clothing. The Lifeline transmitter activates the system even if the telephone is off the hook or during a power failure. Trained hospital personnel receive the signal and immediately dispatch the pre-arranged emergency responder (neighbors, friends, or relatives).
